Model House Shown By Teacher At O.E.A.

Model Dairy Farm Will Be Shown At C. N. E. This Fall

"Joy Manor," a miniature model house, the work of the pupils of the Pine Orchard school, is being exhibited this week at the Ontario Educational Association convention in Toronto.

Mrs. H. Wicke, the senior teacher of the school, took the house to the convention and gave a talk on its construction. The house is completely furnished with model furniture and includes such extras as outfits of summer and winter clothing for its imaginary occupants. The splendid work of the pupils, in making such a beautifully built home and furnishing it in such detail, has been much admired.

At present, the school, under the direction of Mrs. Wicke and Miss Dorothy McEwen, the junior teacher, are working on a health project. This time they are working on a model dairy farm, from the point of view of ideal sanitary conditions. On a platform about nine or ten feet long, they are building a barn, stables and outbuildings. Farther down the road they are building a dairy and pasteurization plant.

The work on the dairy farm is being supplemented by studies on milk, the making of posters, etc. The junior pupils are studying cheese, another dairy product.

The model buildings will be completed and sent to Toronto in June and will go to the Canadian National Exhibition in the fall.

COUNCIL MAY BUY FAIR BUILDINGS

Buildings which the Sportsmen's Association have been trying to buy for the local fair grounds can be purchased where they now stand for $650. Mayor Dr. S. J. Boyd told the town council on Monday evening. A. C. West is president of the organization.

"I told Mr. West to bring us a written offer to sell, and we would decide what action we would take," said the mayor.

Bugle Band Has $3,000 Set-up, Says Wm. Andrews

Town May Give Scholarship For York Music Festival

The town council is likely to break with the past by making a grant this year to the York Music Festival, held with great success at Aurora for the past two years.

Three requests for grants, from the York Music Festival, the Horticultural Society and the R.S.A. Bugle Band, were before the town council on Monday evening. The three requests were referred to the finance committee.

The Horticultural Society has planted geraniums, petunias, and other flowers about the town memorials and made other efforts to beautify the town, L. Bovair told the council in asking for a grant.

Accompanied by L. P. Cane, Mr. Bovair asked for $50.

"What would you think of the town giving money for prizes for the best gardens or something of that sort?" asked Reeve Dr. L. W. Dales.

Mr. Bovair said that the society was doing that. The society was offering prizes again this year for building bird-houses, although there were no entries last year, Mr. Bovair said.

"We are endeavoring to interest young people in flowers," said Mr. Bovair.

The society had plans for beautifying various spots about town, said Mr. Bovair. Dr. Dales suggested flower plots at the entrances to the town.

Shields were donated by all municipalities in northern York county except Newmarket, stated Illtyd Harris, asking the council to donate a shield to the York Music Festival.

"I would like to see that festival come to Newmarket," said Mr. Harris. "It has made a remarkable change in the pupils in Aurora in their interest in music. It would do the same here.

"It would be easier to bring the festival here if the council gave a trophy. Actually, Newmarket gives more trophies individually than any other municipality."

"Newmarket has more participants than Aurora," remarked Mayor Dr. S. J. Boyd.

"The festival is giving three $25 scholarships this year," said Mr. Harris.

"Would a scholarship be better than a shield, do more good to the winner?" asked Councillor Wm. E. Dixon.

"Oh, yes," said Mr. Harris.

Members of the council expressed agreement about giving a scholarship, probably to be ear-marked for a Newmarket competitor.

On behalf of the R.S.A. Bugle Band, Roy Rhinehart and Wm. E. Andrews asked a grant of $200.

"Organized six years ago and through the co-operation of citizens of Newmarket, it has now an investment to the extent of over three thousand dollars," said Mr. Andrews.

"We fully realize that there are many citizens who would favor a different kind of instrumentation and just refer to us as a novelty band, but to us as its leaders, who have taken this band of young men, several times to Oshawa, Midland, Dundas and and have participated in many of the large parades in the city of Toronto and not at any time have they disgraced themselves, the organization which they belong, and the town which they represent. We fully realize as their leaders that they are more than a novelty band. We also feel that we are an organization of which the town of Newmarket can be proud.

"Last spring we undertook for the benefit of these young men to invest the sum of $1,200 for first class instruments, which necessitated engaging a first-class instructor to teach music and drumming. We have managed to finance this part of our work through our own efforts. We fully believe that we have the confidence of the citizens of Newmarket in this work.

"We appeal to you, therefore gentlemen, this evening on their behalf and would graciously ask you to consider if you can support us with financial assistance to the extent of $200. We do not desire to become a burden to the ratepayers of Newmarket and if you cannot assist us at this time financially, we solicit your moral support."

NAMED AGAIN TO SELL DOG TAGS

Wellington Curtis was directed to collect dog taxes commencing May 1, on a commission of 25 cents per tag up to the first 200 and 50 cents for the balance, at the town council meeting Monday evening.

The council agreed to sell a lot on Charles St. to Philip LeGresley for $75.

Improvement of the banks of the creek below the town dam was referred to the town engineer. Some members of the council felt that the town had no responsibility.

BORN TOO SOON, EXCLAIMS ORATOR

"I was born too soon," was the challenging subject which Right Worshipful Brother Don Henshaw of Toronto, past grand orator of the grand lodge of Florida, presented to Tuscan lodge, A. F. & A. M., on Thursday evening.

It was senior wardens' night, with the local senior warden, Bert Hughes, as master of ceremonies. Right Worshipful Brother Joseph A. Troyer, district deputy-grand-master, presided.

There were 16 visiting wardens. The wardens put on the second degree. Among the visiting wardens were Howard Bunn, Rising Sun lodge, Aurora, George Price, Rowland lodge, Mount Albert, John Bain, Sharon, A. O. Davies, Simcoe lodge, Bradford, Lloyd Jarrett, Patterson lodge, Thornhill.

Eighty-five or 90 sat down to the banquet which followed the program. Charles Musgrave, Toronto pianist, furnished some delightful entertainment.

FORMER BOARD CHAIRMAN DIES

John Walsh Came To Newmarket 36 Years Ago

Chairman of the separate school board for 13 years, and president of the Holy Name Society for several terms, John Walsh died at St. Michael's Hospital, Toronto, on Wednesday morning in his 62nd year.

In ill health for about a year, he had been in hospital two weeks. Mr. Walsh was born in Dublin. He married Sarah Hanbidge. About 36 years ago he came out to Canada, settling in Newmarket, and bringing his family. He worked 34 years at the Office Specialty plant.

Surviving are his wife and nine children: George, Toronto; (Adelaide) Mrs. James Cooney, Lemonville; (Gerald) Brother Benildus, Edmonton; William, Newmarket; (Marie) Sister Lucy, Loretto Abbey, Toronto; Kathleen, graduate nurse, Newmarket: (Matthew) Brother Gerald, Montreal; Frances, Toronto; Helen, at home.

The funeral service takes place on Saturday morning, with the De La Salle Christian Brothers singing high mass at St. John's church. Brother Benildus is playing the organ.

WANT TO BE PAID

A letter from K. M. R. Stiver asked settlement with the Charles Stickwood estate for the purchase of the site of the Srigley St. well, at the town council meeting Monday evening.

Horse Killed In Collision

A bad accident occurred at Huron and Yonge Sts. on Tuesday at 6 p.m. when a motorist from Rouyn, P.Q., travelling north on Yonge St. struck a horse and wagon of the Newmarket Dairy.

The horse was killed and Michael Bolton, the driver, had his back injured.

MRS. HARRY STEELS DIES AFTER LONG ILLNESS

On Monday, April 18, Violet, wife of Harry Steels of Toronto, died at Victoria Hospital, London, Ont. Mrs. Steels was stricken with infantile paralysis last August and has been in hospital from that time until her death. She was buried in Mount Pleasant cemetery, London, on Wednesday afternoon.

Mr. Steels was formerly on the Pickering College staff and has very many warm friends in Newmarket, who extend their sincere sympathy.

REV. J. A. TUER WILL COMPLETE SERIES HERE

The services in Trinity United church next Sunday will be conducted by Rev. J. A. Tuer, Toronto. Mr. Tuer has been supplying at Trinity since January and will complete his ministry here on Sunday. At the morning service he will speak on "Life's Abiding Possessions" and in the evening his subject will be "Living Dangerously."

Y.P.U. WILL CONDUCT MEETING IN AURORA

On Monday evening the members of the Trinity Young People's Union and their friends are motoring to Aurora to be the guests of the United church Young People's Union. The Trinity group will conduct the meeting and after devotions a program of recreation will be carried out.

MONA ARMSTRONG AND WM. FRASER ARE WINNERS

Mona Armstrong was the winner of the senior girls' oratorical contest, held in the auditorium of the high school last Thursday afternoon. Alice Landry came second. The winner of the senior boys' contest was Wm. Fraser, Kenneth Johns taking second place.

Other contestants were Mary Henry, Jack Peppiatt and Neil Faris. Each speaker gave a prepared address and a short impromptu speech.

The judges were Miss Kathleen Stewart, Mrs. R. B. Green and Mrs. Andrew Hebb. Jim Tod, the chairman, introduced the speakers.

PARADE AT SUNNYSIDE

Miss Jennie Myers and Miss Lorna Palmateer of Newmarket were among the thousands who paraded on the boardwalk at Sunnyside on Easter Sunday.

Milk License By-Law Unpopular, Rescinded

Fee Of $25 Hits Local Producers As Well As Big Fellows

As the result of unfavorable reaction from a number of residents of the township, Whitchurch township council at its last meeting at Vandorf rescinded the milk by-law passed last year.

The by-law was intended to help the resident farmer who was selling his milk in the township, and imposed a $25 license fee on all who were selling in the township, milk which they had not produced themselves. The by-law, passed last July, was really aimed at the large city dairies.

"We found that the by-law worked a handship on our own citizens," Reeve Earl Toole told The Era. "Many of our farmers were selling more milk and cream than they could produce themselves and they were buying from neighbors. That brought them under the by-law.

"We have repealed the by-law, but we haven't given up the idea. We believe that some kind of by-law is needed."

UNDERGOES OPERATION

J. A. Maitland, woodwork instructor at Pickering College, is in York County Hospital following an operation.

SUNDAY-SCHOOL TEACHERS MEET AT TRINITY

On Tuesday some 70 teachers from 13 neighboring churches gathered in Trinity church for conference. After the opening exercises they divided into groups according to interest and a very profitable evening was spent. An address was given by Rev. Gordon Lapp, Toronto, at the close. Rev. E. J. Thompson of Aurora was chairman of the meeting.

DISCUSS CANADIAN UNITY PROBLEMS

at a weekend conference at Pick-
The conference, which considered the problem, "Can we achieve Canadian unity?" was under the joint auspices of the Kayaneren club and the Youth Unit of the Toronto branch of the League of Nations Society.

Miss Jean Hunter of Newmarket and Miss Marie Lauder, former member of Newmarket high school staff, led in recreation.

HOLLAND LANDING MAN IS BEREAVED

Ophia Prince, wife of the late John E. Martin, died at Newmarket on Friday in her 85th year. The funeral service was held at the United church, Holland, Landing, on Monday, with interment in Queensville cemetery. James Thackman of Holland Landing is a son.

WEDDINGS

KING - PHILLIPS

A pretty wedding took place at the home of the bride's father, on Wednesday, when Norman Leslie King, son of Mr. and Mrs. Angus J. King of Keswick, was united in marriage with Marjorie May Phillips, daughter of John Phillips and the late Mrs. Phillips of Brougham.

The ceremony was performed by the bridegroom's uncle, Rev. Richard Morton, of Paisley. Jean Phillips, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid and Johnston Perry of Keswick was best man. After a wedding trip to Clinton, Parkhill and other western points, the couple will reside in Sutton West.

MOORE - FIRTH

A quiet wedding was solemnized at the Christian church parsonage on April 14, when Herbert Calvin Moore, son of Mr. Howard Moore and the late Mrs. Moore, was married to Pearl Fern Firth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Firth, Newmarket. The couple were attended by Mrs. Harvey Miller, Sharon, and Mr. Thomas Davis, Newmarket.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. W. S. Alexander.

After a short trip to St. Louis, Mich., where they visited the groom's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Moore, the happy couple will reside in Newmarket.

DAIRY SOLD

Harry Forde, proprietor of Cousins Dairy, Newmarket, has sold his business to David Murray of Port Hope. Mr. Forde will move to Toronto at the end of the month, when the transfer takes place. Mr. Murray, who has been engaged in the dairy business in Port Hope, was formerly in business in Aurora.

WILL VISIT AURORA Y.P.U.

Trinity United church Y.P.U. have accepted an invitation to visit the Aurora United church Y.P.U. next Monday night. All young people who wish to go are asked to meet at the church at 7.45 p.m.

MARKS 80TH BIRTHDAY ON EASTER MONDAY

Mrs. R. Graves' four daughters spent Easter Monday with their mother, who that day celebrated her 80th birthday, Mrs. Will Carson, (May), of King, Mrs. F. Widdifield, (Minnie), of Pine Orchard, Mrs. W. Couch, (Lily), of Holt, and Mrs. Howard Pegg, (Maude), of Sharon.

MARK 45 YEARS OF WEDDED LIFE

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Goodwin, King township, celebrated their 45th wedding anniversary on Thursday, April 14, at the home of their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. N. E. Goodwin, of Toronto.

During the forenoon, beautiful flowers were sent in, with congratulations and anniversary greetings from their city friends and also useful presents.

The dining-room table was decorated with lovely spring flowers and centred with a large anniversary cake, which was cut by the bride of 45 years.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Goodwin are still active, and living on the same farm where they started married life together.

LADY CELEBRATES 88TH BIRTHDAY

Mrs. E. Rose, Millard Ave., celebrated her 88th birthday on Saturday last, with the immediate members of her family all at home, Mrs. Boyd (Stella), Newmarket, Mrs. R. Pinder (Mabel) of Newtonbrook, Mrs. H. Byrne (Allie) of Temiskaming and Alonzo Rose, Newmarket. She was "at home" to her numerous friends and relatives both Saturday afternoon and evening, and also on Sunday, and her birthday and Easter Day coming together made it an especially happy occasion.

Mrs. Rose was the recipient of many and varied gifts, not the least of which were many flowering plants and bulbs and cut flowers. Mrs. Rose enjoys exceptionally good health, and her friends wish for her many happy returns of the day.

MISS CAROLINE GLEASON DIES AT FINE OLD AGE

With the memory of many happy years and a life of helpfulness behind her, Miss Caroline A. Gleason died at her home on Timothy St. on Saturday.

Born at Gilford, N.Y., Miss Gleason was in her 92nd year. She was the daughter of Almany and Joel Gleason, who came to Glenville about 1863 to operate a mill. When the family first came to this district, they lived for a while with Joel's father, Ira Gleason, who had come to this district before his son and had a farm on Second St.

Joel Gleason died in 1867 and his wife died in 1895, when the two daughters who were at home, Caroline and Frances, moved to Newmarket.

Ten brothers and sisters have predeceased Miss Gleason, who is survived by one sister, Frances, the youngest member of the family and the only surviving member of the family bearing the Gleason name. She is also survived by a niece, Miss Mabel Black, who has lived here with the family for the past two years.

Rev. R. R. McMath and Rev. J. A. Tuer conducted the service on Monday. Interment took place at Newmarket cemetery.

Pallbearers were Earl Pipher, Fred Chantler, Fred Barker, Charles Lepard, Wellington Curtis, and H. B. Marshall.

Relatives attending the funeral included: Mr. and Mrs. Morley Black, Buffalo; Mrs. H. Behling, Buffalo; John Black, Hamburg, N.Y.; Mrs. Wm. Baldwin, Aurora, and son, George Baldwin; Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Wilson, Aurora, and Mr. and Mrs. Hunter, Stroud.

HOCKEY EXECUTIVE TO BE NAMED FOR NEXT YEAR

The annual meeting and election of officers of the Newmarket Hockey Club will be held in the council chambers on Monday evening. Affairs of the past season will be reviewed and the decks will be cleared for another year.

DR. DALES READS POLICE A LECTURE

Criticism had been made during the past week of the town police being engaged in work outside of the town, said Reeve Dr. L. W. Dales at the town council meeting on Monday evening.

Members of the town police, Chief Constable James Sloss and Constable Kenneth Mount, and County Constable Ronald Watt, the three constables who arrested a man with a gun at Queensville last week, were present and heard Dr. Dales' statement.

Dr. Dales read the police regulations which provide that the town police are not to go out of town except in case of emergency, and that they are not to initiate work outside of town.

Dr. Dales did not say whether or not, in his opinion, they should have gone to Queensville.

1937 POLICY MAY NOW BE REVERSED

Indicating that they may depart from their 1937 policy of refusing to make grants of any kind, Whitchurch township council gave a delegation from the Aurora Horse Show a friendly hearing at the April meeting of the council.

"This is the first request made this year, and so far the council have not adopted any policy, but if we decide to give any grants, the Aurora Horse Show will be included," said Reeve Earl Toole.

The show will take place the second Saturday in June, Elton Armstrong and A. M. Kirkwood told the council.

Relief dropped substantially in March to $174 compared with over $400 in March a year ago, it was reported.

With less mileage to maintain, as the county has assumed certain roads, but with some roads in bad condition, the council decided to keep road expenditures at the 1937 level.

John Crawford, township clerk, reported receipt of $7,085 as the provincial road subsidy for work done last year.

The milk by-law of last year was repealed.

Replacing Wm. Richardson, who resigned, Russell Gray was named as a member of the board of health.

MUCH-LOVED LADY DIES AT DAUGHTER'S HOME

A resident of Newmarket for the last 20 years, Mrs. Wm. Smith, mother of F. N. Smith, Newmarket, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. W. E. Clarkson, Kettleby, on Tuesday.

Barbara Frances Webster was born in King township. Her husband predeceased her by 20 years.

Mrs. Smith was wrapped up in her children and grandchildren. Knitting was her favorite pastime and she was known as an expert with the needles.

She was a member of the Christian-Congregational church. Her life was spent in York and Halton counties.

Rev. Dr. W. S. Alexander and Rev. H. B. Hardy, of King, conducted the service this afternoon. Pallbearers were Herbert Webster, Gordon Webster, James Webster, Leo. Blackburn, B. B. Terry, W. E. Clarkson.

She is also survived by a brother, T. F. Webster, Glenville.

HEAR ADDRESS ON SOUTH AMERICA

Members of the W. A. branches from Sharon, Holland Landing, Coulson's Corners, Bradford and Aurora were guests of St. Paul's Newmarket branch last Thursday afternoon to hear Miss Louie Thomas give an address on her work in South America. As she was the first Canadian Missionary to that district her address was extremely interesting.

St. Paul's W. A. will announce the date of the spring paper collection in next week's paper.

ACCOUNTS PAID

Accounts passed by the town council Monday evening included: Thompson's Machine Shop, $1.25; Elman W. Campbell, $6.80; Dunn's Garage, 75 cents; W. H. Eves, $49.63; James Sloss, $1.25; Helmkay Transport, 70 cents; Wm. White, $18.50; Bell Telephone Co., $21.65; Kenneth Mount, $5.85; D'Arcy Miller, $80.

Town Will Pay Half Cost Up To $12,000

Maintenance Cost Variously Estimated From One-Half To One Mill

An expenditure not exceeding $12,000 for a new vocational wing to the high school, and equipment, was authorized by the town council on Monday evening.

"Mr. Wark phoned today and asked if we could give a decision tonight if possible on the high school wing," said N. L. Mathews, K.C., clerk and solicitor.

"They want $25,000," said Councillor Wm. E. Dixon.

"We pay half," said Mayor Dr. S. J. Boyd. "The government pays half."

"Are you sure of that?" asked Councillor Frank Robinson.

"That's what they said," said Mr. Mathews.

Deputy-Reeve Joseph Vale estimated the maintenance cost at a mill on the tax rate.

"I would say half a mill," said Dr. Boyd.

"I would hate to pass it up," said Reeve Dr. L. W. Dales.

"Should we rush into it?" asked Councillor Arthur Evans. "There are other things coming on. We have these new lights."

"We may need a sewage system," suggested Councillor Wm. E. Dixon.

"We have cut our debenture debt in two from $500,000," said Dr. Dales. "I don't think we need to worry about adding $10,000 or $12,000 to our debenture debt."

"I am not opposed to it," said Mr. Evans.

"I'm not opposed," said Mr. Dixon.

Dr. Boyd said that if Aurora erected a vocational wing and attracted Newmarket students, Newmarket's costs might go up.

"I think the building can be put up cheaper than the board thinks," said Dr. Boyd.

WILL HOLD SOFTBALL MEETING ON FRIDAY

The annual meeting of the Newmarket Softball Association will be held this Friday night, April 22, at 7.30 p.m. in the Bell Telephone Co. office, Main St.

The purpose of this meeting is to elect the officers for the coming season and discuss the sport in general for this summer. All those interested are asked to kindly be on hand at this meeting.

Incendiary Fire Wipes Out Kids' Shack On Eagle St.

Three Fires In Three Days Keep Firemen On Their Toes

Fire alarms sounded on three successive days, Saturday, Sunday and Monday, but none of the three fires caused much damage.

The Saturday morning call was from the home of Mrs. Harriet Bacque, where a chimney fire was soon put out.

The most spectacular blaze occurred on Sunday evening after dark, when a shack thrown up by youngsters of the neighborhood only a couple of weeks ago on a vacant lot between Andrew and Eagle Sts., caught fire and was destroyed.

It was thought that one of the youngsters of the neighborhood set the fire. Sparks from the fire fell on the shingles of the home of Mrs. Edward Peat, Eagle St. Neighbors, with buckets, soon aided by the fire engine, kept the blaze in control. Ferguson Traviss, who was home for Easter from Parry Sound, saw the fire and gave the alarm.

On Monday evening a pot of grease got on fire at Ken Ponting's fish and chips shop. The alarm had been hardly sounded when the "fire-out" whistle sounded. In the few moments which elapsed between the two whistles, Arthur Ainsley and Joseph Brammar, who happened to be near the fire hall at the time, had the fire truck on the street.

VISITED JACK BRODERICK WHO ONCE WORKED HERE

W. W. Osborne and his daughter, Miss Beth Osborne, returned on Monday evening from a five-day visit to Buffalo. Among relatives they visited was Jack Broderick, a cousin of Mr. Osborne's, who used to work with Mr. Osborne's father for G. A. Binns and for G. S. Wright. Mr. Binns conducted a combined tinsmithing and hardware business on the west side of Main St. in what is now the Armstrong block.

Osborne Doubts If Cure For Tattle Taste Found

Council Hears New Remedy Suggested For Bad Water

A new cure for the unpopular flavor of Newmarket's drinking water was suggested to the town council on Monday evening by C. C. Rachar, town electrical engineer.

Councillor Frank Robinson asked Mr. Rachar to tell the council his idea of the cause of the bad water.

The water is taken out of the very bottom of the reservoir, and draws all the sediment with it, whereas standard practice would take the water from at least seven feet above the bottom, said Mr. Rachar.

"Now you want to claim the credit for the idea," joked Reeve Dr. L. W. Dales as Councillor Wm. Dixon took the floor.

"No, but I am glad to hear someone support the view I took last year," said Mr. Dixon. "I said that the water should be taken at least three or four feet from the bottom."

Deputy-Reeve Joseph Vale said that the reservoir had been cleaned out till it shone like a whistle, but that the water still tasted the same.

"It is a funny thing that the water tastes all right at the well, but doesn't after it comes out of the reservoir," said Mr. Dixon.

Councillor W. W. Osborne, chairman of the water and light committee, who was not present at the meeting, said that it was a matter of opinion where the pipe should enter the reservoir. Mr. Osborne explained that the same pipe takes the water into and out of the reservoir. He said that the tank was kept cleaner with the present arrangement.

GIRL GUIDES HOLD NIGHT OPEN TO PUBLIC

First Newmarket company of Girl Guides will hold an open night next Wednesday evening, April 27 at 7.30 p.m. at the R. S. A. Bugle Band hall. The girls' mothers and fathers, and the local association are cordially invited to attend.

The meeting will open with roll-call and inspection, followed by a talk on Guiding by a Toronto commissioner, Mrs. D. Oxley. Then there will be a candlelight enrolment and a demonstration of some of their work, after which the mayor, Dr. S. J. Boyd, will speak. Following that there will be a trefoil ceremony and then campfire and taps.

At the close of the meeting there will be a candy sale, each patrol taking part and refreshments will be served.

Coming Events

THE NEW TREATY

What are we, the people of the towns, villages and concessions, to make of the new Italian-British agreement? Does it concern us, or is it just a matter for Downing St. and Fleet St.? We may leave the foreign policy of the British Commonwealth entirely to Mr. Chamberlain's government and go on with our seeding, or we may try to take such an interest in foreign policy that Mr. Chamberlain will feel that he must pursue a course which will appeal to us as reasonable and wise. Mr. Chamberlain, of course, is not dependent on us for his tenure of office, but he is probably confident that he can depend on us in case of war.

Only Human

In considering British foreign policy we must remember that in Britain there are all kinds of people, radicals, idealists, reactionary capitalists, pacifists and militarists. Some in Britain are sympathetic with the loyalist government, some are sympathetic with the rebels. Some in Britain are indignant about Italy's adventure in Abyssinia, others see nothing amiss. Some in Britain would risk war rather than permit the covenant of the League of Nations to be broken. Others would not approve of war for any reason. It is impossible for Mr. Chamberlain to please all, but it may be assumed that he is trying to please as many as he can, particularly his own supporters.

Are You Indignant?

Now we could easily get indignant about this new treaty. Britain has undertaken to persuade the League of Nations to recognize Italy's sovereignty over Ethopia. When the League does that, it will add to its several negative failures its first positive failure—its first deliberate departure, except through inaction, from the ideals of the great Woodrow Wilson. Italy has agreed to remove her troops from Spain gradually "during or after" the civil war. Now we could get indignant, but we are among those who would avoid war, and we can see that Mr. Chamberlain may have averted an European war.

One View

We do not believe, however, that the world can scrap principles without penalty. The principal penalty is likely to be further weakening of faith in international agreements and treaties. It is impossible to build a better world on the sands of bad faith. We would call attention to the remarks of Professor Norman MacKenzie, of the University of Toronto, on the CBC "world today" period on Sunday evening. Prof. MacKenzie, whom we happen to know, is an overseas man and after graduation in law after the war was nominated by the Canadian government as legal adviser to the labor department of the League of Nations. He served at Geneva for some years, we believe, and is well qualified to speak on foreign policy. Prof. MacKenzie said that the new treaty marked a return to nineteenth century imperialism. It marked, he said, a definite return to the pre-war system of alliances, and he pointed out that the pre-war system of alliances had not prevented war. In other words, Italian-British friendship is not necessarily a guarantee of world peace. Germany still wants colonies, and, if others have colonies, hasn't Germany a pretty good claim to colonies too?

AFTER EASTER

After Easter we start fresh, with new visions, new ideals, new courage. We need a periodic shake-up to make us realize that our world is not yet perfect. Inequality of opportunity between nations, between provinces, between individuals, is the greatest obstacle in the way of progress, we would say. When a race or an individual does not, through lack of opportunity, make the contribution that it or he might make, the whole world is the loser.

A PROGRAM FOR 1938

Newmarket needs a public health nurse, a wider Main St., a business men's association. So we think.

WHEN SPRING COMES

Now that spring is here, let's all get started to make our homes, places of business, gardens and yards as tidy as possible. Newmarket has many lovely gardens, and could have still more.

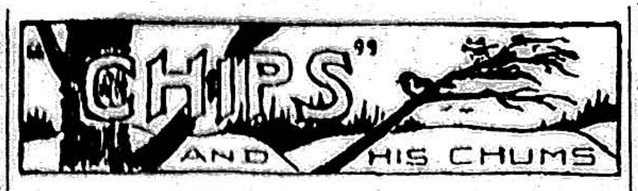

ISMS AND ISMS

Only two "isms" are needed in this country, said a speaker at Bowmanville, "Christism and patriotism." We would doubt if the kind of patriotism that leads to war is compatible with "Christism," which is generally understood to include the commandment, "Thou shalt not kill." Nor is the kind of "Christism" which leads to the hatred and persecution of Jews compatible with true patriotism. On the other hand, the "socialism" of the publicly-owned post office system, hydro-electric power, old age pensions, mothers' allowances, relief of unemployment, is not such a bad thing.

HOW TO FARM AND MAKE MONEY

Producers of farm products have the means within their own hands to improve their position. Their situation is not hopeless. They can organize producers' co-operatives, not to raise prices to the consumers, but to share in legitimate wholesaling and processing profits, and to improve their own products.

Editorial comments are short this week to make room for some "publicity" for the Canadian National Institute for the Blind tag day on Saturday, April 30. The purpose of the publicity is to open hearts, minds and purses when the taggers get out on the street. The great satisfaction about giving to help the blind is the knowledge that the blind almost invariably make a big effort to help themselves. Money given to the Canadian National Institute for the Blind is used, we believe, not to maintain blind persons but principally to train blind persons so that they may support themselves. Instead of reading editorials this week, you will enjoy the interesting article concerning pensions for the blind on page 3.

YOUNG CHIPS' FACE IS RED

BY RUTH DINGMAN HEBB

"Well, Mrs. Robin," announced Young Chips in proud tones, "You see before you Mr. and Mrs. Y. C. Chickadee. I was finally able to blurt out the big question to Merry and she accepted my offer, fortunately."

"Fortunately for you, anyway," admitted Mrs. Robin. "I hope it's fortunately for her, too. I hope that you'll be a good husband to her, Young Chips, and not go off gadding and leave her to sit on the eggs all alone for days at a time. And then when they are hatched out, you'd better work hard finding food for the babies."

"Oh, I'll take my responsibilities very seriously, I assure you," responded Chips. "Come on, Merry. You didn't like the last fifteen places that we looked at for a possible site for our nest, but I'm not a bit discouraged. There's a lovely old stump about two fields from here. It's really more of a broken-off tree than a stump. And I'm sure there are all kinds of holes in it and perhaps one of them will be suitable."

"All right, dear," agreed Merry. "Let's go over and look at it."

"Why, just listen to that!" exclaimed Young Chips. "That bird is saying 'de-ar-ie, de-ar-ie' as plainly as can be and it's coming from that big tree over there. It must be our little friend from the woods, the Wood Pewee. We'll go over and tell him about our marriage."

They hurried over to the tree from which the familiar voice was coming. "Hello, Wood Pewee, welcome back to Newmarket," called Young Chips as they drew near the tree.

"How nice to hear your voice again," Merry added politely.

"Why, I don't see anyone in this tree but a big Starling," Young Chips said. "Where are you, Wood Pewee?"

"Who did you expect to see here?" inquired the Starling condescendingly. "I'm the only one in this tree, if my eyes don't deceive me."

"Why, we're looking for the Wood Pewee that we heard calling," spluttered Young Chips, annoyed by the Starling's superior manner.

"Ha, ha," chuckled the Starling. "You and the little lady make 19."

"Nineteen what?" inquired Merry. "What in the world are you talking about?"

"Nineteen people have come over to see the Wood Pewee, so far this morning," he explained.

"Well, where is he?" asked Young Chips, still in a blank tone.

"He isn't here at all," replied the Starling. "I was doing the calling. I have a wonderful voice for imitating other birds' calls, you know, or are you so young that you didn't even know that?"

"Of course I knew," snapped Young Chips. "I just didn't think of such a thing, that's all." He was furious that he had appeared to such a disadvantage in front of his new wife.

"The ignorance of some people is amazing," murmured the Starling. "I've been deliberately testing it out all morning, and enjoying myself tremendously."

"It seems to me perfectly natural," said Young Chips, "that if you can imitate other birds so well, that you would be mistaken for those other birds, that is, until they saw your ugly face," he added as a brilliant afterthought.

"Quite natural," conceded the Starling, "but your stupidity is shown because of the fact that the Wood Pewee does not return from the south until this time in May—and this happens to be April."

"I never thought of that," admitted Young Chips, his face red with chagrin and indignation. "Come on, Merry, let's get out of here."

"That was a good one about the Starling's ugly face," whispered the little lady tactfully as the young couple flew from the scene of their humiliation.

50 YEARS AGO

Mrs. Frank Porter of Bradford is visiting in town for a week or two.

Mr. Alex. Sutherland of Toronto was in town a couple of days this week.

Miss Maude Gordon of Port Perry, was visiting with Mrs. J. E. Souch over Sunday.

Mrs. Edy of London, mother of Mrs. F. H. Bogart, spent Wednesday with her at "Woodside."

Mr. George Wallace, the barber, left town for California this week.

Miss Ross, sister of Mr. C. G. Ross, accountant at the Ontario Bank, is here from Scotland, on her second visit to Newmarket.

Mr. Will Bogart of Youngstown, N.Y., is in town on a week's visit.

The next entrance exam to Newmarket high school will be held on July 4, 5 and 6. All candidates intending to write are asked to notify the inspector not later than May 1.

There is quite an epidemic of measles in this vicinity lately. Eleven children who were at the model school on Friday were sick on Sunday. Seventeen in the infant class of the Christian Sunday-school were down sick last Sunday. The attendance at the Methodist Sunday-school was 90 less than the previous Sabbath. The disease appears to be of a light type, however, and fortunately no cases have proved fatal.

John Savage has purchased the property of the late John Cook on Main St., and is now repairing and renovating the premises. Next year he proposes to remodel the building by building a brick front and mansard roof. An improvement of that kind in that portion of the street will add materially to the appearance of the town.

As Sunday was the jubilee anniversary of the birth of Rev. Mr. Webber, over 100 of his friends took possession of the parsonage on Monday evening. Mr. George Rose read an address and presented Mr. Webber with a well-filled purse and Mrs. Webber with a silver cake basket, butter knife and a fruit dish.

Messrs. Connell and Robbins shipped to Boston, last Monday, 40 of the finest general purpose horses that ever left Newmarket depot. They were all purchased in North York and Bradford at prices ranging from $95 to $175, averaging about $120.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Everest of Parry Sound were home for a few days of last week.

Miss Amy Lundy of Toronto spent over Sunday with relatives and friends in town.

Mr. and Mrs. George A. Thompson have been visiting relatives at Keswick and Belhaven.

Miss Beatrice Wesley of Toronto was home over Sunday, accompanied by Miss Marion Willson of Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. Mickle of Gravenhurst spent over Sunday with their daughter, Mrs. Howard Cane.

Miss Janet Galbraith has returned from an extended visit with friends at Schomberg, Tottenham, and Toronto, and has accepted a position in Broughton's drug store.

Mr. Robert J. English, of Schenectady, N.Y., writes: "I am certainly proud of the progressive town of my boyhood. Am glad to see how well she proves that the licensed bar is not needed to make a town grow. May Newmarket continue to prosper."

Mr. B. B. Terry, son of Mr. Milton Terry of Kettleby, has opened a real estate and insurance office at Howard's livery. He is wished every success in his new business.

The question of Sunday cars on the Metropolitan Railway to run between Toronto and Sutton was again discussed last Thursday, with the decision in favor of cars on Sunday. Petitions were presented from each municipality through which the cars run and every municipality voted in favor of cars except Newmarket. However, the matter is not settled yet, as letters of protest against the decision were sent to the premier who proposes that the bill be referred back to the committee and that they reconsider it with the petitions before them. The outcome will therefore be eagerly awaited by all interested.

The regular monthly meeting of the Newmarket Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. Chas. Doan last Saturday. Miss Alice Ferguson of King gave a very instructive talk on "Spring Gardening." The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. G. A. Brodie, Eagle St., and the officers will be elected for the new year.

The autos are running around lively again, but a few days ago one got stuck in the mud on Yonge St., and another on Huron St. on Wednesday. It took three horses to pull it out.

From Paris on Monday came the news that France has taken steps to ask Premier Mussolini whether he is ready to negotiate a French-Italian Friendship pact, similar to that with Britain.

After trying every other method for the last two years to rid the wall beside the fire-place of their home of a hive of bees, Arthur V. Wels and his sister, of Seattle, Wash., are now tearing the house down.

Thousands of Ontario teachers, school trustees and educationists registered in Toronto, on Monday, for the 77th annual convention of the O.E.A. Attendance is expected to be between 5,000 and 6,000.

After one of the most violent Easter weekends in recent history, when Arab bands of terrorists waged a miniature war against the British troops, pilgrims of three faiths, protected by British troops, began leaving the Holy Land on Monday.

Arrayed in finery which, it was estimated, represented a total outlay of from three to five millions of dollars, 150,000 Torontonians turned out for the Sunnyside boardwalk parade on Sunday.

Two armed men held up the teller, a clerk, and a customer on Wednesday and escaped with $2,000 from a Dominion Bank on Danforth Ave. The bandits escaped in a car, believed by police to be stolen.

SCOTT COUNCIL SURVEYS ROADS

John M. Clark chaired the regular monthly meeting of Scott township council on Saturday, April 2, in the absence of Reeve Bain on county work.

The council decided to make their annual survey of roads on April 11 and 12. Insurance on the township highway was renewed at a lower premium rate than in 1937.

Communications were read from L Stead, school attendance report for February; Workmen's Compensation Board, with notice of assessment for 1938 of $118.05; from R. D. Ruddy, advising of the admittance of two patients to York county hospital.

A letter was received from N. B. Murray, complaining of wood being taken from the roadway without permission and without a survey of the road having been made, and from the relief officer of East Gwillimbury, with an account for relief supplied a former Scott resident.

A communication was read from the superintendent of the Newmarket District Hydro Commission, with the contract of Mrs. Edith Profit, for acceptance by the council.

The following accounts were passed:

Ditching, dragging etc., road 2, $14.18; snow, gravelling and dragging road 4, $57.91, dragging, snow, and ditching road 6, $35.80 snow, dragging and gravelling road 9, $20.60; dragging roads 11 and 4, $14; snow, dragging and gravelling W. FORD gives you something really new in the De Luxe Ford V-8 that made its bow to the motoring world this year. Back of it is a line of more than 26,000,000 Ford cars, honestly built. Ahead of it is a new public appreciation of big size, modern style and brilliant performance in the low-price field. It is the biggest, roomiest Ford V-8 ever built. It is offered in eight body types. And it sets a high standard of economy. Owners are reporting 22 to 27 miles per gallon.

Then there's the Standard Ford V-8 — lower in price than the De Luxe. It, too, is a big and handsomely appointed car. The two cars have many features in common — both are built with the same regard for high quality of materials and workmanship. Like the De Luxe, the Standard has the 85-horsepower engine. There are three body types. Both De Luxe and Standard cars have much "extra" equipment at no extra charge. See them at your Ford dealer's. Drive the one you favor.

POLICE COURT

"66," SAYS OFFICER CASE DISMISSED

Appearing in court on two charges of assault, Alexander Foster, East Gwillimbury, was granted a remand for one week in local police court here on Tuesday before Magistrate W. F. Woodliffe.

"We are ready to proceed with this case and have six or seven witnesses present," stated N. L. Mathews, K. C., crown attorney.

"Why do you ask for a remand?" questioned the magistrate.

"My counsel couldn't be here today but we will be ready to go on next week," answered Mr. Foster, who has already been in custody a week and a half.

The charges of assault were laid against Foster by Ernest Lundy and County Constable Ronald Watt.

Convicted on charges of speeding were, Jack G. Wilson, Toronto, Wallace M. Murdock, Toronto, R. S. Carter, Norval, and C. O. Molley. The first two were fined $15 and costs or ten days, while the others paid fines of $10 and $13.50, respectivley, with costs.

All speeding charges were laid by Provincial Constable A. O. Ferguson.

A charge of speeding laid against Philip Fingold, Aurora, was dismissed by the magistrate, who gave the accused the benefit of the doubt.

"I followed Fingold's car for two miles," testified Constable Ferguson. "For the first mile his speed was 65 miles per hour and the next mile the speed was under 50 miles. I stopped the car and asked for the driver's permit and told him he had been speeding.

"We were hurrying to the hockey game but our speed was not over 50 miles," stated Philip Fingold. "A boy in the back noticed you coming and I slowed down."

A passenger in the car, Oscar Andrews, stated the speed was not over 50 after they saw the officer.

Convicted of driving with his truck over-loaded to the extent of 550 lbs. during the spring season and on a county road, Irwin Erb, East Gwillimbury, was given the minimum fine of $10 and costs, or ten days. The charge was laid by County Constable Aubrey Fleury.

On a similar charge of overloading to the extent of 6,340 lbs. Halliday Bros., Toronto, were fined $25 and costs, or ten days.

"Our truck had a load of coke screenings, which we were taking to Keswick," stated a member of the Halliday firm. "The whole load was only worth $30 and we offered to take it back rather than proceed on the road but the officer told the driver to go on. We didn't know it was a county road."

Afer the fine was imposed, he again asked what the fine would have been if he had not told the circumstances.

"We usually charge one cent for each pound over-weight with a maximum fine of $50," answered the magistrate.

"Can't anything more be done about it?"

"No, the fine will stand as it is," ordered the magistrate.

STATES PENSIONS DON'T END WORK

The local committee for the Canadian National Institute for the Blind is planning a tag day, to be held in Newmarket on Saturday, April 30.

While blind persons over 40 years of age will soon be receiving government pensions, there is still a great deal to do to help the blind equip themselves and make their way in life, explained Mrs. Frank Robinson, chairman of the local committee, to The Era.

"The most outstanding event in the world of the Canadian blind during the past year was the passage by the dominion parliament of the amendment to the Old Age Pensions Act which makes applicable the provisions of that act to blind persons 40 years of age and over," said Mrs. Robinson. "As members of the council are aware, such legislation has been sought for many years. Payment of allowances under this amendment has not yet commenced. There is a great deal of preliminary work to do in regard to perfecting the necessary agreements between the provinces and the dominion, the establishment of uniform methods of handling applications and determining upon definite interpretation of regulations, so that it is impossible to predict when the scheme will be actually in operation.

"Pensions for the blind will, unquestionably, be a tremendous boon to many blind persons. Our records show that there are a great many blind people between the ages of 40 and 70, who are in receipt of no, or very meagre, incomes, and who, either through their geographical location or through some disability other than blindness, cannot be provided with employment through any avenues which the Institute can open. To them, even though the monthly pension is only $20 the regular receipt of such a sum will mean the difference between helpless dependence and something resembling security.

"In connection with the possible effect of pensions for the blind on the work of the Institute, I think I may repeat here a portion of an editorial printed in the January issue of the National News of the Blind, dealing with that particular point:

"'It is believed by those who have been advocating pensions that they will remove from blind people the necessity of appealing for relief, but it has never been suggested that they could or would take the place of the work being carried on by the Canadian National Institute for the Blind. There is some danger that the general public may assume that the beginning of pensions means the end of their interest or responsibility in connection with the welfare of the sightless members of the population.

"'Some of those interested in the Institute might harbor the fear that the inauguration of pensions would mean the cessation of public support to the Institute, necessitating the closing up of work-shops and library; the abandonment of home-teaching and prevention activities; the closing of homes and residences; the cessation of social service work and the surrender of concession stands and the privileges secured from transportation and theatrical companies.

"'Such fears are groundless. Canada as has been stated many times, is the only important unit of the English-speaking world, where pensions for the blind have not been set up. The experience of other countries indicates that pensions do not mean the end of all work for the socialization and economic freedom of the blind, but that greater activity in these fields develops after the acceptance of the pension scheme. It has been found, apparently, that when pensions were granted to that portion of the blind population barred from making an adequate income by age or other infirmity, greater opportunities could be developed for the younger and more energetic blind people.

"'There is every reason to believe that similar results will become apparent in Canada when pensions become law. The Canadian National Institute for the Blind looks forward to the establishment of pensions as a point from which to embark on an era of greater progress in all its endeavors on behalf of all blind people, including those on pension.

"'No pension scheme can ever take the place of the work being done by the C.N.I.B. What pensions will do is simply to regularize and put on a secure basis, the furnishing of certain basic necessities. Pensions will leave the Institute more free to proceed with the main objects for which it was created; the discovery of industrial and commercial openings for capable blind artisans and merchants; the conduct of more active campaigns for the prevention of blindness, the training and rehabilitation of those who lose their sight after school age; the maintenance of a library service; social service; the administration of privileges and concessions accorded to the blind; the establishment and maintenance of residences and the consistent advocacy of the right of blind men and women to live normal lives and to take their places in the normal life of the community."

Sutton Nonagenarian Develops Third Set Of Molars, 90 Today

To be cutting his third set of teeth today, his 90th birthday, is the unique experience of John M. Munroe Riddell, who is living on a farm one mile from Sutton. Born in Georgina township, April 21, 1848, Mr. Riddell has lived on a farm all his life, coming to live with his son, Sylvester, on a farm west of Sutton some five years ago. Enjoying excellent health, Mr. Riddell began cutting his third set of teeth during last December, when he noticed some molar teeth coming through.

His parents came from Scotland in 1829 and finally settled in Georgina township. One of twelve children, John M. M. Riddell operated a farm in Georgina for many years. Mr. Riddell has been looking forward to his birthday and remarked to one of those who came to congratulate him, "I want you to be sure and come and see me when I'm one hundred years old."

Sutton West

The regular meeting of the United church Young People's Union was held in the church hall on Tuesday night, when Mrs. M. E. Hamilton gave a very interesting address on "The Easter Message."

After the business of the society had been discussed, the meeting was taken over by Aubrey Timmins, convenor. The scripture was read by Olive Walker and was followed by a reading by Curtis King. Plans for a supper to be held at the first of next month were discussed.

ROCHE'S POINT

YOUNGSTERS WIN HOCKEY TROPHY

By defeating Jackson's Point 2-0 at Ravina Rink, Toronto, last Friday afternoon, Roche's Point Juvenile hockeyists gained possession of the Torrens' Cup. After trying in vain for three years, the midgets from Roche's gained the hockey heights and achieved their objective by capturing the cup.

The winners richly deserved their victory, carrying the play to their opponents in the first two periods, then presenting a strong three-man defence to protect their lead in the last session. On the few times that Jackson's broke through the defence, Bob. Pollock rose to the occasion to earn himself a shut-out.

In the first period Roche's hemmed in their foe and were unlucky not to score. Joe Yorg got in with only the goalie to beat, but shot into his pads. Pete Yorg, ten-year-old youngster, almost scored in a couple of scrambles. Jackson's had few shots on goal.

All scoring took place in the second period. Norm. Folkeard scored the first and winning goal for Roche's, banging the puck in the Jackson's net after a wild scramble. The second goal, scored by Joe Yorg on an assist from English, was one of the finest goals anyone could ever see, a typical Apps to Drillon goal. This score gave Roche's a commanding 2-0 lead, a lead which they never relinquished.

In the third period Roche's, playing without Charlie Walinck, out with sickness, played a strong three-man defence and kept Jackson's from scoring. The latter were awarded a penalty shot, but Pollock stopped Kaiser's shot with ease. English, too, took a penalty shot, which was wide. The game ended with the score remaining the same.

W. Gilby presented the trophy to the Roche's captain, Norm. Folkeard, after the game. The cup will be on display in Sandy Walinck's store. The teams—Roche's: goal, Pollock; defence, Blaine, Vail; centre, English; wings, Folkeard, J. Yorg; subs., P. Yorg, Diamond, Robinson.

Jackson's: goal, L. Kaiser; defence, S. Kaiser, Porte; centre, Gilby; wings, Thompson, Lonergan; subs., Sedore, P. Kaiser, Burrows.

MRS. MARLES BORN AT KESWICK, WED AT 16

Mrs. Wm. Marles, who died a week ago Monday at Holt, was widely known and respected.

Catherine Brechan was the daughter of Anne Hodgins and Christopher Brechan, and was born at Keswick. She married Wm. Marles when she was 16. He died 14 years ago. They lived first at Queensville and then at Holt. Mrs. Marles had lived at Holt for 40 years.

Mrs. Marles had been in ill health all winter but was confined to her bed only a week before her death.

Three sons and two daughters survive. Six children are dead. Surviving are: George, Stanley, and Ernest, Holt; and two daughters, Mrs. Moses McShane and Mrs. Stanley Cain.

Rev. B. Babcock of Holt conducted the funeral service. Interment took place at Queensville a week ago Wednesday. Pallbearers were three sons, two sons-in-law and a brother, James Brechan, Bradford.

SUTTON

HOCKEY PLAYER WINS PERMANENT

Leon Smith looked good in the Sutton hockey nets during the past winter, but it seems that he is due to look a lot better shortly. In the lacrosse draw held this week he won a permanent wave and a manicure, to be given at Vera's Beauty Shoppe. Or maybe his wife will have something to say about it. Incidentally, the lacrosse boys netted $26.

Jim Treloar, bank clerk, won a bag of flour, and Frank Kaiser won a car rug. Treloar has a car but no family. Kaiser has a family but no car.

VIVIAN

FORTY ACRES OF WOODLOT BURNED

The Sunday-school service was held at 10 a.m. as usual on Sunday with the attendance still increasing.

The church service was at 7 p.m. The pastor, Mr. Rowan, preached to a full house. He is spending part of the week among the people here, making further arrangements for the new church building. He has been visiting all classes and all denominations in this community, and has been heartily welcomed by all.

The fire that accidentally started in the demonstration woodlot last Thursday destroyed about 40 acres of forestry trees, and no buildings were burned, nor lives lost. A great deal of credit is due the many kind men who left their own duties and responded so promptly to the call for help, and also to Mr. Holldige, who worked and directed the men so skilfully, and to the ladies at the telepone with their help and advice.

The woodmen are just finishing their winter work and the weather is showing signs of spring again.

Burch—In loving memory of Harvey Frederick, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Burch of Newmarket, who passed away April 19, 1936.
He had a cheery smile, a pleasant way,
A helping hand to all he knew,
He was so kind, so generous and true.
On earth he nobly did his best.
Grant him, Jesus, heavenly rest.
Sadly missed by Dad, Mother and Sister.

QUEENSVILLE

TEMPERANCEVILLE BEATS RAVENSHOE

In the semi-final debate sponsored by the Toronto Centre Presbytery North Young People's Union, and held in Queensville last Tuesday night, Temperanceville defeated the Ravenshoe union by a very close score.

The debate was, "Resolved that co-operation will do more for the dominion of Canada than competition. Ravenshoe upheld the affirmative side of the question and presented some very fine argmuents. However, along with her splendid material and sparkling personality, Miss Milly Umehara came through to win the debate, ably assisted by Miss Mae Harman. The Ravenshoe debaters were Grant Nighswander and Carl Glover.

The final presbytery debate will be held at the annual convention at King City on May 13. (Note the change in date, from May 4 to May 13.) The subject "Resolved that democracy is more to be desired than dictatorship." Temperanceville will uphold the affirmative side and Ravenshoe the negative.

Next Sunday Rev. Ernest Model of Downsview will be in charge of the church services on the Queensville pastoral charge. An invitation is extended to all.

Many from here are looking forward to the evening of entertainment sponsored by the Hope United church and to be held in Sharon hall next Tuesday night. The program is in charge of the Kenwood Troubadours.

Mr. Chas. Millstead was in charge of the church services at Listdale Presbyterian church last Sunday. The husband of L. M. Montgomery, the famous Canadian authoress, was a former minister at this church.

Miss Mary Marsh, of Toronto, spent last weekend with her sister, Mrs. J. B. Aylward.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Moore and daughter, Betty, spent last weekend at the Watson home. Mrs. Moore and Betty are also remaining here during the holidays.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Hill of Toronto spent last weekend at the MacKenzie home. Eileen and Billy are spending their holidays here this week.

Mrs. Elton T. Cobb of South Bend, Indiana, is spending her Easter holidays with Miss Zanna Grant. She intends visiting in London for a week before her return home.

Mr. Willard Madden spent last weekend at his home here.

Miss Laura Thompson of Toronto spent last Sunday visiting friends here.

Mr. Wm. Batt is steadily improving, and has been removed from the hospital to the home of his daughter, Mrs. Fred Weddel, in Sharon.

Mr. Bill Kavanagh left for the north country one day last week.

Mr. Jim Draycott is spending this week visiting Mr. Rex Smith.

Mrs. Sydney Thompson attended the funeral of her uncle, Rev. A. Bedford, in Toronto, last week. He came here to preach as a young man and met and later married Miss Phoebe Moore, a sister of Mr. J. D. Moore. Sympathy is extended to the family.

The next meeting of the Queensville Women's Institute will be held at the home of Mrs. A. Milne on April 27. Roll call: a Canadian beauty spot; paper on agriculture, Mrs. Geo. Pearson; solo, Mrs. Geo. White; current events, Mrs. Kavanagh.

Reeve S. Osborne and J. L. Smith will give a talk on council proceedings.

The lunch committee is Mrs. Pearson, Mrs. Dew and Mrs. Smith.

Elmhurst Beach

A number of the ladies attended the address given by Mrs. Barron of Toronto, and Mrs. M. L. Andrews of Aurora, in the United church, Keswick, last week, also the tea and program.

Word has been received from the Camerons that they have arrived in Florida, and the weather is just like summer.

Mrs. Samuel Pegg, who underwent an operation in York county hospital a couple of weeks ago, is now staying with her sister, Mrs. John Hirst, and her friends wish her a speedy recovery.

Friends from Toronto visited at Mrs. Ralph Draper's during the Easter weekend.

Mr. Claude Pollock, of St. Andrew's College, Aurora, is home with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Pollock, for the Easter holidays.

Mrs. Miller Sedore has been visiting her parents in Toronto for a week.

Miss Evelyn Arnold spent the Easter weekend at home, with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ernie Arnold.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Armitage of Markham, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd, Mr. Seth Lloyd, and Mrs. Swash, of Toronto, visited at Mr. and Mrs. Ike Waldon's on Wednesday.

Mount Pleasant

Spring seems to be here to stay, with the fall wheat looking good and also the clover. None seems to have been winter killed.

A large number attended the Easter services on Sunday. Communion was held. New members were taken into the church. Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Brown's two children were christened.

Sunday-school has been reorganized, with Bernard Davidson as superintendent.

Mr. Wesley Taylor and family of Port Credit were at Mr. Earlby Stephen's on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Willard Cryderman and baby, of Greenbank, were at Mr. Robt. Davidson's for Easter.

Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Davidson spent Sunday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Harvey King.

Mrs. Wm. Moulds and Miss Margaret Moulds spent Monday evening at Mr. B. Davidson's.

Mrs. Everett Yorke and Claude spent Sunday evening with her father, Mrs. Geo. Stiles.

Mr. Geo. Stiles was out to church on Sunday. He had been confined to the house so long through sickness, and his friends were delighted to see him again.

Mrs. Geo. Moulds continues very poorly. It is hoped that she will soon be well again.

The suckers seem to be very plentiful this spring.

RUPTURE EXPERT TO BE HERE APRIL 28

A noted rupture expert, with unequalled appliance and treatment, will be at King George Hotel, Thursday, April 28, afternoon and evening. Look for advertisement on page 3. (Advt.)

A certain famous film star visited the Highlands and stopped for refreshment at a farmhouse. She was given some milk in a little bowl and while she was drinking it a pig trotted up to her.

"See," she explained, delighted, "even the leetle peeg, he recognize me."

"It's no' you he recognizes," said the farmwife, "it's his wee bowlie."

New Dates Named For Aurora's "Home Week"

Jubilee Celebration Plan Awaits Finance Committee Approval

COMMITTEE OPTIMISTIC

Pending a report from the finance committee of the jubilee association, the dates for Aurora's old home week were set as July 9, 10, 11, 12 and 13, at a meeting of the association in the council chamber on Monday night.

The finance committee has been having difficulty, J. G. McDonald told the meeting.

"We are asked what the program is to be," he stated. "We have nothing in particular to say."

"We were planning to wait until we were sure of our financing," Mayor Dr. C. R. Boulding said, pointing out the existence of "a vicious circle," the program waiting for financing, and the finance committee waiting to learn the plans of the program committee.

Aurora's service club, asked to appoint a representative to attend the meeing, had sent Archie Cousins as their delegate.

"If you give us something to do we will try to do it," Mr. Cousins assured the meeting. "The service club has just started this year, but we would like to do something."

"Add Mr. Cousins to the finance committee," suggested Dr. Boulding.

"That will be fine," Mr. McDonald said.

The ladies, Miss E. Lemon told the meeting, were waiting to learn the date of the old home week before making their plans.

Reeve J. A. Knowles suggested that a "warriors' day" be included in the week, and P. M. Thompson stated that plans were being made tentatively for a garden party and perhaps a band competition, sponsored by the junior band. Suggestions for a historical pageant were outlined by Archie Cousins.

The finance committee would meet the following night, Mr. McDonald stated, to consider ways and means. The council, it was announced, was prepared to back the association to the extent of $200. A further meeting will be held as soon as the finance committee can make a report, and as the meeting closed, hopes for a successful celebration of the town's jubilee year looked brighter than ever.

GARDENERS INVITED BY SCHOMBERG SOCIETY

Members of Aurora's horticultural society have been invited to attend a gardening lecture sponsored by the Schomberg gardeners on Thursday evening of next week. "Dick the Amateur Gardener" will speak, it is stated.

ABOUT TOWN

Speaking of hockey—and we guess we'll be doing it as long as we're in Aurora—we understand the club secretary (hello again) has received several letters, all commenting favorably on the fine sportsmanship displayed by the Jubilees.

That's fine. When we went to school we were taught that one object of sports was the creating of sportsmanship — of learning how to play, how to win, and, most important, how to lose. The Jubilees shone brightly in all departments. Selah.

HAIL, PETUNIA!

Now the snow is off the ground and the gardeners are on it, we take the opportunity of reminding you folk with a house and plot of ground that it's just about time you were worrying about the culture of Aurora's jubilee flower, the petunia.

The idea—sponsored by the local horticultural society—is to make Aurora blaze like mad so tourists' hearts may be made glad . . . to make the house roofs heave and sway, so tourists' dimes will come to stay.

Many will stay for hours and hours, just to see Aurora's flowers. Others will stay for days and days, just to see Aurora blaze. And all of them, when they go their ways, will join in singing Aurora's praise.

There we go again.

It's a year of upsets. The Chicago Hawks beat the Leafs, Orangeville beat Aurora, Baby Yack got trimmed and on Thursday evening Bing Crosby's program was interrupted to permit President Roosevelt to unload another fireside chat.

This Roosevelt is quite a lad. With so many on his payroll, he'll have a tough time losing an election, and until he does, he swings as much power, we think, as either Hitler or Mussolini. He swings it, however, in the American tempo, and the citizenry dance willingly enough.

He's having a little trouble, of course, from the lads who will have to foot his prospective four billion dollar bill. It's always a little difficult to call the tune when someone else is paying the piper, but Roosevelt has a persuasive voice.

As a salesman must consider the characteristics of his customer, so must a dictator consider the tastes of those to whom he would dicate. Accustomed to humoring the whims of a kaiser, the Germans continue to goose-step with stolid enjoyment before the gandering Hitler.

Mussolini answers the Italian need for drama by singing bass in an opera in which Mars has been given the leading role.

Russians, with the eye-sore of luxury removed, have been given the right to vote yes to Stalin's demands.

Americans, and especially the Crosby-ites, lend docile ears to the command veiled in a fireside chat. To Canadians, we suppose, the call is most acceptable when it comes in the dulcet tones of the motherland. At least, that's where it came from the last time we heard it.

Protection From Liquor Traffic Needed For Girls, Pastor Says

Cites Increase In Crime Since Opening Of Beverage Rooms

A report stating that 135 per cent more women had been convicted in Toronto police courts since the opening of the beverage rooms was quoted by Rev. A. R. Park in an address to the W.C.T.U. on Tuesday.

"What about the homes of these women?" he asked. "Our homes have an influence over our lives. Are prospects for womanhood and motherhood brighter, in the present way in which we are called upon to live?"

"The girls of today are asking if we are really interested in them," the pastor stated. "We think of the liquor traffic as it relates to big business. Is there any business quite so big as the business of home?

"Are there any who are shareholders in business life today who have a bigger share in a bigger business than our girls have in the business of home-building?" he asked. "It is said that the girls' influence in the spending of home income is 80 per cent or more.

"Perhaps one of the most serious areas in which we find conflict in home life is in the financing of home affairs. We should be interested in those who have influence in this sphere.

"I have come to believe that there is a time in young life when the girls have more influence over their boy friends than has anyone else. These girls are asking if we are concerned about them. They have potentialities to make or mar. They can be of supreme joy or immeasurable sorrow.

"We must consider what is the bearing of this liquor traffic upon the girls," Mr. Park stated.

Sneak Thief Visits Three Aurora Homes

Police Obtain Description After Third Visit Of Prowler

CHIEF WARNS RESIDENTS

A number of Aurora householders have received visits from a night-prowling sneak thief during the past weekend, it was learned from Police Chief F. Dunham on Tuesday.

At least three homes were visited early on Saturday morning. They were those of Frank Teasdale, A. A. Cook and Bert Long. It was from a visit to Mr. Long's residence that the police obtained their first description of the marauder, and they are keeping up the search for him.

The prowler visited Frank Teasdale's home about 1.30 a.m., Saturday, entering through the garage door into the house.

"I saw the door open and I just hollered," was Mrs. Teasdale's report of the visit. She did not see the thief.

The visit to the home of Mr. Cook was made about an hour later.

"I had just come in from a fishing trip not long before," Mr. Cook stated. "My wife warned me that someone was moving about in the dining-room. I went to investigate but the thief heard me and was gone before I could see him."

Chief Dunham, hot on the trail, asked The Era to pass a word along to Aurora's householders.

"Ask them to keep their doors locked," he said. The chief feels that it would be easier to catch the thief if citizens made the entrances and exits to their homes a little more difficult. Aurorans have in the past had little to fear from such visitors, and are apt to be a little negligent in protecting their homes.

TEACHERS PLAN FOR MOTHER'S DAY SERVICE

Miss Leva McDonald entertained at her home on Catherine St., Monday evening for the teachers of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Sunday-school. Plans were made for their Mother's Day program at which there will be a baptismal service. Awards for Sunday-school attendance will be made on that day, it is planned.

"Unite Railways," Speaker Tells Local Service Club

States Monopoly Already Exists In Services And Rates

"I find it difficult to understand why a young country like Canada should go through periods of depression," F. G. Gardiner, reeve of Forest Hill, told the Aurora Service Club at its regular dinner meeting on Monday night.

Reeve J. A. Knowles introduced Mr. Gardiner and paid tribute to his unbiased attitude toward affairs of York county. Mr. Gardiner spoke on "Some problems of taxation," the railway deficits, over-government and the tax burden on real estate.

"The obligations of the Canadian government in railways are now over three billion dollars and the annual deficit of the C.N.R. is fifty million," the speaker stated. "Every year each family in Canada must find $35 to meet this recurring deficit.

"Due to the increase in motor traffic the railways have lost one-third of their freight and two-thirds of their passenger traffic."

The speaker described the benefits of a unified system of management and advocated the development of a light type of equipment. He refuted the claim that railway unification would create a monopoly.

"The board of railway commissioners excercises a monopoly now in regard to construction, service and rates," he declared.

"One out of every ten people in Canada is directly or indirectly supported by the government," Mr. Gardiner stated, in dealing with over-government. He advocated decreasing the number of senators and commoners, decreasing the size of county councils and eliminating duplication in government services.

"But," he added, "nobody will attempt to cut out duplication in government because it means tramping on their own toes.

"Relief should be split between dominion, province and municipality in the proportion of 50, 40, and 10 per cent," he stated, in dealing with the burden of taxation on real estate. "Hospitalization of indigent patients should be the joint responsibility of province and municipality in the proportions of 90 to 10 per cent.

"The province of Ontario makes one of the smallest contributions to secondary education of any province in Canada, or of any country in the world," Mr. Gardiner maintained. He advocated that the total cost of secondary education be borne by the province.

In closing, Mr. Gardiner reminded his hearers that "legislation cannot precede public opinion."

Earl Helsey provided music for the evening and led the club members in a sing-song.

ROY DE LA HAYE NOW LEADS BRADFORD BAND

Roy De La Haye, leader of Aurora's Citizens' Band, now also is the leader of the band in Bradford. Non-operative for four years, the Bradford band re-organized several weeks ago with 18 members, and asked Mr. De La Haye to take charge.

Erection Of Dairy Likely If Present Plan Approved

C. E. Sparks Considering Building On Centre And Yonge Sts.

Plans calling for the erection of a new dairy to be erected on the north-east corner of Yonge and Centre Sts., have been sent to the milk board and to several contractors by the Aurora Dairy, C. E. Sparks, a town councillor and proprietor of the dairy, revealed on Tuesday.

The plans, which entail the pulling down of the present dwelling opposite Duffield's shoe store and the levelling of the lot, would provide for a dairy with a lunch room in front, facing on Yonge St., and for apartments on the second floor. The corner is one of the few at present unoccupied by business premises on Aurora's Yonge St.

A new pasteurizing unit was expected to arrive at the dairy on Tuesday and this and other dairy equipment, all up to date, will be available for use in the new dairy if present plans are proceeded with.

Approval of the plans by the milk board is sought in order that the new plant may maintain modern regulations covering sanitation and efficiency of operation.

"We would not be considering the building of a new dairy if we felt that business did not warrant it," Mr. Sparks replied to the inevitable query of "how's business?"

ORANGE HOME GETS EGGS FOR EASTER

One hundred and thirty dozens of eggs as well as gifts of dolls and books, were given in response to the annual Easter appeal on behalf of the children in the Orange home. The gifts found a thankful acceptance by the children and by officials of the lodge.

Fifteen Brigades Represented At Firemen's Dance And Euchre

Firefighters Lay Plans For Opening Of Club Room

Three hundred persons, 175 of whom were visitors from outside Aurora, participated in the dance and euchre held in Mechanics' hall by the fire brigade on Thursday night. About 15 different bands of fire-fighters were represented.

To Miss Annie Gillespie went the first ladies' euchre prize, with Miss Hazel Eves taking second place. The ladies' consolation award went to Mrs. Percy Heisey.

The first men's euchre prize was won by J. O'Connor and the second prize was taken by J. Wright. Oliver Judd was given the consolation prize for men.

The smell of paint is still prominent in the firemen's new quarters in the town hall as the fire-fighters put on the finishing touches to the decoration of their club room. A goodly number of tables and chairs have been repainted, pictures have been hung on the newly plastered walls, and modern electrical fixtures have transformed the attic-like space on the second floor of the town hall into a most attractive meeting room.

Members of the fire brigade intend to give the place an official opening on Friday night, when they will be hosts at an oyster supper.

PLAN JUBILEE TEA

The Ladies' Aid of St. Andrew's Presbyterian church will hold a jubilee tea on Saturday afternoon in the lecture room of the church.

Easter Cantata By City Choir Sponsored By Baptist Church

Twenty-Five Voice Toronto Group To Be Heard Here Friday

As part of its observance of the Easter season, the Aurora Baptist church is sponsoring the presentation of a cantata, "Darkness to Dawn," by the 25-voice choir of Toronto's Ossington Avenue Baptist church on Friday evening of this week, The Era learned from Rev. A. R. Park on Monday.

The Baptist Sunday-school held an open session last Sunday afternoon, together with members of the men's class, who had returned from holding a special service for residents of the House of Refuge in time to attend.

The evening service was featured by a baptismal service, which was followed by one of the most largely attended communion services in the history of the church.

The last illustrated hymn service of the season will be held next Sunday evening. The lengthening days will make it impossible to have a darkened church, necessary for these special services, until the autumn.

F. ROWE NAMED FIRE MARSHAL

Climaxing 31 years of service in Aurora's fire brigade, Fire Chief Frank Rowe has been appointed fire marshal of Aurora and district, The Era learned Monday night.

He was made fire chief a year ago last March, after a term of 14 years as deputy fire chief. The appointment is a popular one and tops a fine record of service.

SCHOOL NOTES

Dr. J. S. Glen, minister of the Aurora Presbyterian church, made his first appearance at the school last Thursday, when he spoke at the annual Easter service. Dr. C. R. Boulding, always here, wished that the pupils would co-operate and stop other pupils or persons from pulling down the new trees that were planted last year to beautify Aurora.

Dr. C. J. Devins, who is the chairman of the school board, was sick at home and Mrs. Devins was asked to take the school's wishes home.

After a lot of strategy, Bill Devins was sent out of his room and the other upstairs rooms were told about a suggestion that flowers should be sent to the chairman.

Contributions were brought in the afternoon and pupils nominated from each room to represent their class. A beautiful bouquet of spring flowers was purchased and was presented to the doctor.

The pipe band made its debut at the service and so now we are free to describe them. A number of pieces were played and everyone liked them. The pipes are practised every Saturday morning and on Friday afternoons when other classes have interest groups.

Made of bamboo, which is brought from Japan, the pipes do not cost much to make as only a few tools and paint are required. More information regarding the pipes will not be available until the painting is all done. The pipe band is under the direction of I. Harris.

The primary classes are pretty proud of themselves because their rhythm band played before the O. E. A. on Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. I. Harris has a smart little band all decked out and they all are learning their notes.

Better To Belong To Empire Third Form Wins Talk Title

Parents Entertained By Play Staged By Literary Society

The fourth and final meeting of the high school literary society, held in the assembly hall on Thursday evening of last week, took the form of an open meeting, with students' parents and friends attending in goodly numbers to enjoy an excellent program.

"Resolved that it would be better for Canada to be an independent country, apart from the Empire," was the subject of a debate between third and fourth form for the school's debating championship.

A close decision gave the award to the team of Evelyn Courtney and Bill Walker, who supported the negative side of the question and who represented third form.

Betty Ball and Art Hill were worthy representatives of fourth form and did well for the affirmative. "Nip" Armstrong entertained with a sparkling piano solo. A well-written, humorous issue of the school paper, L'Aurore, was read by its editor, Enid Westcott.

Members of the society entertained the audience with a hilarious play. Hazel McBride took the part of "Mrs. Preston," one of those persons who is always trying to crash society, but who never does because she can't remember not to drink from her saucer. Christine Kirkwood took the part of her equally society-conscious daughter, and both handled their roles to perfection.

Ethel Buckingdale, "Miss Preston," as the ill-treated and scorned sister-in-law, meets Mary Griffith in the role of "Mrs. Carter," a member of the upper crust, and finds out that her fiance, who has just returned from a fortune-making journey, is Mrs. Carter's cousin.

The "in-laws," on hearing this news, endeavor to impress Miss Preston with all that they have done for her and pour blessings on her, but all to no avail, as Miss Preston departs, leaving her socially-ambitious relatives still ambitious.

GETS JEWEL FOR LONG MEMBERSHIP

Tenell Appleton was presented with an "Honorable Veteran's Jewel" at a social evening held by the Aurora Oddfellows on Tuesday evening. He has spent 35 years in the order. Mr. Appleton joined the Oddfellows' Lodge in 1900 in Oakville and later transferred to Aurora.

D. D. G. P. Helsey of Markham and his staff, also visitors from Newmarket, were present. Mr. Helsey made the presentation and the jewel was pinned on by P. G. P., M. L. Andrews.

G. W. Thexton, Popularly Known As Engineer, Dies From Stroke

Had Been Experimenting With New Heating Equipment

Plans for the manufacture and sale of a new type of air-conditioning and heating unit have been placed in abeyance by the sudden death on Saturday night of its inventor, George W. Thexton. The Era learned on Monday from Daniel Williamson, his associate in the proposed venture.

Mr. Thexton, an electrical engineer, had been superintendent of the Factory Equipment Company here since last May. He had moved here from St. Catherines, although his real home was in Toronto.

In his spare time he had developed a new type of heating equipment and had built a working model of it for practical demonstration in the home of Mr. Williamson on Wellington St. It had been planned to manufacture the equipment here, Mr. Williamson stated.

He was spending the evening quietly at his home on Saturday when he was stricken suddenly with a heart attack and died before medical aid arrived.

"He was a very honorable man and a pleasant person to talk to on any subject," was Mr. Williamson's tribute. "I will miss him very much."

Mr. Thexton was born, of Scotch and English parentage, in Seaforth, Ont. The family later moved to Uxbridge and it was there and at the University of Toronto that he received his education. His work took him to the United States and to St. Catharines and Oshawa. He was well known in Toronto as a mechanical and naval engineer.

He married the former Alice Bloxham of Brantford about eight years ago. He attended the United church and was a popular member of the Aurora board of trade.

The funeral was held from his home on Tuesday, with Dr. E. J. Thompson officiating. Interment was made in Prospect cemetery, Toronto. Pallbearers included his three brothers, S. Wallace, of Toronto, and B. G. Whitelaw and W. Ranson, of Aurora.

He is survived by his widow, one daughter, Mrs. Samuel Wallace of Toronto; one sister, Mrs. J. Lumsden, Peterboro, and by his three brothers.

CLASSES ENTERTAINED

Mrs. D. Barkey and Miss M. Andrews entertained their Sunday-school classes at the United church on Tuesday afternoon. The girls were completing scrap books on the life of Jesus.

BILLETS SOUGHT FOR GIRLS HERE

A conference and camp reunion of district groups of the Canadian Girls In Training is slated to be held in Aurora on Friday and Saturday of next week, it was learned from Vera Clarke this week.

The task of finding billets for the large number of girls who will attend is a difficult assignment, Miss Clarke states, and she would welcome any assistance in taking care of the girls.

The girls will meet in the United church for part of the conference, and in the parish hall of Trinity Anglican church for the balance of the meeting. The program will include interest groups and addresses by prominent speakers.

CLASS PRESENTS LAMP TO LEADER

The class in which young people of St. Andrew's Presbyterian church have been studying the application of Christian teachings to present-day problems held its final meeting for the season on Sunday afternoon.

Members of the class joined in presenting Dr. J. S. Glen, their leader, with a modern electric table lamp. He expects to take up his duties at Glenview Presbyterian church, Toronto, about the second week in May.

Reynolds Essler, of Knox College, Toronto, will speak at the Presbyterian church on Sunday. Six new members were received at the communion service last Sunday.

LOCAL TERRIERS AWARDED PRIZES

Three awards were taken by Talaurora Kennels at the Toronto Kennel Club show in Toronto on Friday and Saturday, it was learned from Dr. C. R. Boulding, proprietor of the local kennels.

The title of best wire-haired puppy went to Talaurora Gallant Lady. Harecote Harmony took the prize as the best female of her breed in the show. Benholme Bayard, imported last year from England, maintained its reputation by walking off with the honor of being the best wire-haired dog in Aurora district news will be found on page 6.

Samuel Lount Born In States, Not Here, Local Historian Says

Women Liberals Seek To Honor Noted Rebel Of 1837

Daily newspapers who described the birthplace of Samuel Lount, North York patriot of the rebellion of 1837, as "believed to be a short distance north of (Aurora) town limits," are in error, The Era learned in an interview with J. M. Walton, keen student of local history, on Tuesday.

"Samuel Lount was born on Sept. 24, 1791, in Pennsylvania," Mr. Walton stated. "He came here with his father, Gabriel Lount, who had a farm across from the present site of St. Andrew's College."

Any memorial to the noted rebel should be erected near his final resting-place, he suggested, and if possible should be made by an organization that was province-wide in its scope.

The Aurora Women's Liberal Association, at a meeting held here last week, appointed several of its members to investigate the possibility of paying honor to Samuel Lount. No definite plans were made at the meeting, however.

KETTLEBY MAN WILL BE 92

Ninety-two years old this Saturday, Luke Gibbons of Kettleby attributes his long life to temperate living, sane thinking and sober habits. He has spent all his life in the Kettleby district and has been a farmer most of the time, but was a school teacher for two years before he started farming.

He has three children, John of Montana, Frank of Richmond Hill and Mrs. George Paxton of Kettleby, with whom he lives.

JUNIOR FARMERS PRESENT PLAYS THURSDAY, FRIDAY

The fourth annual drama contest of the York County Junior Farmers opens this evening at Pickering College at 8.30 o'clock. Jas. E. Dean of Toronto will be the adjudicator. The contest will conclude tomorrow evening. Clubs from Poplar Bank, Nobleton, Unionville, Belhaven, Stouffville and Victoria Square will compete.

TO THE FARMERS OF NORTH YORK

For some time past there has been no Thoroughbred Stallion available to farmers wishing to produce half-bred hunters.

The Toronto and North York hunt has an opportunity of having 'ROSELYON' but do not wish to go to the expense of keeping him unless there is an indication that a sufficient number of farmers would use him. 'ROSELYON is by 'SUNSTAR' and has produced some very fine hunter type colts, winners at the Royal, the Canadian National, etc.

Handsome cash prizes will be awarded to his progeny in North York for 1939.

Approved mares complimentary.

As the Hunt must give a decision at an early date, as to whether they will keep 'ROSELYON,' will farmers please communicate with the undersigned if interested.

EVERSLEY

MRS. A. LLOYD, 70, TAKEN BY DEATH

Traffic was heavy over the weekend, as people came and went from Easter visits.

There were wonderful Easter services in all churches. All Saints Anglican church of King City was banked with beautiful flowers around the altar, roses and lilies, while the Easter service was complete and the choir especially excelled in Easter anthems.

Mr. and Mrs. Goodwin of Toronto, with Cecil, Jr., and Jimmie, were at "Scot's Wha Hae" on Sunday and Mrs. Isa Ferguson and Mr. and Mrs. Scott Ferguson, of Toronto, were home here on Saturday evening.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Arthur Lloyd was held on Wednesday afternoon at Eversley Presbyterian church. The building was filled to capacity with friends and relatives. The late Mrs. Lloyd, formerly Isabella Ball, was in her 71st year. She lived all her life in this vicinity, her home farm being on the fourth concession of King, back of Thos. Scott's farm, where they have resided for many years.

She had been semi-invalided for several years, and had lived a quiet life, being out of the way of regular traffic. During her last illness, her heart weakened and she passed suddenly away on Monday. Besides her husband, Arthur Lloyd, she leaves two sons, Wesley and James, both living in Temperanceville, and Ethel, Mrs. Trevor Springett, of Toronto, and several grandchildren and great grandchildren.

Mrs. Lloyd was a life member of Eversley W.M.S., a kindly neighbor and friend. The funeral service was conducted by Rev. M. E. Burch, pastor of Eversley Presbyterian church.

Eversley Young People's met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. Rolling on Thursday night. It was musical night, with Frances Ross as program convenor. James Wells, vice-president, presided. Miss McClure gave a very beautiful Easter reading. Mrs. Rolling gave a talk on teaching singing in the public schools, emphasizing the importance of singing to children, from babyhood, thus familiarizing them with hymns and songs.

Mrs. Rawlings was at the piano, and her friend, Miss Angus, from Toronto, contributed a solo, "Drink to me only with thine eyes."

Miss Ferguson spoke of the contribution made to the church hymns by the poets. Wm. Cowper has contributed eight hymns, all well known and beautiful, and his friend, John Newton, has contributed 12 hymns to the hymn book, all beautiful and familiar. She gave a brief history of the lives of these two poets.

The late Mark Gillham, who passed away at his home in Aurora, was a native of the fifth concession of King, where he farmed, and was a member of Kinghorn school board in the days of the correspondent's teachership, and is respectfully mourned by his many friends. He was 80 years of age, and retired to Aurora 20 years ago.

Snowball

The Snowball branch of the Women's Institute will hold their April meeting at the home of Mrs. Frank Williams on April 27. Roll call, an outstanding person of the community; historical research, paper on Snowball school since its inception, Mrs. Robert Gellatley; current events, Mrs. E. Reddick; hostesses, Mesdames Appleton, Mitchell, E. Copson, Mills, White, C. Copson.

The Snowball Y.P.S. will hold their meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Harrison on Thursday evening.

The Young People's Society of Teston is expected to give a play in the United church on Wednesday evening, April 27.

Miss Ruth Webb spent the Easter vacation at her home here.

Mrs. William Farren is on the sick list. Her many friends hope that she will soon be around again.

Pine Orchard

Mrs. McGee of Toronto is spending a few days with her sister and family, Mrs. Isaac Johnson.

Mrs. M. Wilson was a guest for the weekend with her sister, Mrs. Smith and her son, Everton, in Newmarket.

Mr. Leask of Leaskdale, also Miss Erma Taylor of Cedar Brae spent Sunday at the home of Mr. Earl Toole.

Messrs. Orley McClure and Freddie Hoover left on Monday morning for the Algoma district, northern Ontario.

Miss Leta Hawtin has returned to Mr. Bert Dike's home after spending the winter with her sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. A. Milne of Lindsay.

Miss Edith Hope of Willowdale was an Easter guest at the home of Mr. Jas. Hope.

Mr. Orley McClure and Miss Florence Tucker took Sunday night tea with the former's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John McClure.

On Thursday afternoon of last week, Mrs. Colville, Mrs. Harper, Mrs. G. McClure and Mrs. Roy Howlett met at Mrs. Tucker's home and quilted another of the Willing Workers' quilts. This is two now finished for the mission box.

The Bogarttown community club will meet on Friday night of this week at the schoolhouse.

Mrs. Pingle, also Miss Pingle, of Toronto, spent the Easter weekend at the Harper home.

Master Murray McClure spent the weekend with his aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. C. Peterson in Aurora.

Mr. George Sproxton, also Mr. W. Shropshire, are in the city on jury this week.

Pottageville

Sunday-school was held at the usual time, 10 o'clock, with David Fegan, superintendent, in charge. Ed. Houghton took the Bible class.

In observance of Easter, appropriate music was used. The inclement weather prevented many from attending.

Worship service will be held next Sunday at 11 p.m. with the minister, Rev. H. W. Strapp, conducting the service.

Miss Helen Ollikainen is spending the Easter week with friends in Toronto.

Mr. A. Elder visited Mrs. A. Elder's parents on Good Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Williams of Toronto visited the former's parents.

Early Sunday morning, Mr. J. Jarvis had the misfortune to lose his horse, which had to be shot.

Miss V. Allen, teacher at S. S. No. 13, King, is spending the Easter holidays with her parents at Alliston.

Schomberg

Dr. and Mrs. M. K. Dillane attended the funeral of the latter's brother, Mr. William Dillane, which took place in Toronto last Wednesday, with interment in St. John's cemetery, Tecumseth, following.

Dr. and Mrs. Ronald Kay of Loring, Ont., spent Easter with Dr. and Mrs. A. F. Kay here.

Dr. Eric Dillane of Powassan, Ont., was home with his parents, Dr. and Mrs. M. K. Dillane, for Easter.

Mrs. Elrick of Toronto spent the holiday weekend with her sister, Mrs. E. Smith, and Mr. Smith, in town.

Mr. Mel Patton and family were Sunday guests of Mr. Jos. Butler.

The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Lister of the 12th line, King, met in the town hall here last Wednesday night to honor them with a presentation following their recent marriage. Edna McKinley, is long and favorably known here, as is also the bridegroom, who was formerly in Band. The evening was spent in happy dancing, after which the couple were presented with a handsome chesterfield suite. The address was read by Mrs. Allan, to which both Mr. and Mrs. Lister replied, expressing their deepest appreciation of the beautiful gift.

The Women's Institute met in the club room on Thursday afternoon of last week, with the president, Mrs. Schoultz, in charge. A substantial donation towards the York county cot in the Queen Mary hospital was voted and other routine business transacted. The program was arranged by Mrs. Schoultz and Mrs. B. Skinner, the main feature of which was a splendid address by C. Kitchen, who gave both a humorous and serious talk on many points of concerning women.

The current events were also most entertaining and educational and were given by Mrs. Kay. The contest was won by Mrs. W. E. Dale.

Refreshments were served by the hostesses, Mrs. J. Hart and Mrs. Maynard Hart.

Mrs. Geo. Moss and daughter, Derenda, spent a few days in Toronto last week.

GLENVILLE

DERATING FINALS WILL BE MAY 13

A number of young people attended the Y. P. U. religious drama festival on the final night at Laskay on April 12.

Despite the storm on Monday night, over 50 attended the Y.P.U. meeting, with Miss Hazel Homer, Christian Fellowship convenor, in charge. The drama, "His eyes were opened," was presented by Miss Ethel Homer, Francis Somerville, Alfred Hamon, Merland Deavitt, Fred Judge and Russell Somerville. Wesley Y.P.U. orchestra supplied special music.

Miss Elsie Sharpe spent last week at her home here.

Friends are pleased to see Miss Marjorie Allen back.

Miss Jeanne Deavitt of Newmarket and Miss Shirley Gartshore, are spending the holidays with their grandmother, Mrs. Deavitt.

Several attended the debate at Queensville on Tuesday evening. The final debate will be held on Friday evening, May 13, at King, at the "Spring Rally-Convention," with Temperanceville and Glenville in the final.

Mrs. Wm. Deavitt and Mr. Percy Deavitt spent Good Friday with Mr. and Mrs. Rigler at Keswick.

Last Friday evening, prayer meeting was held in the church, after which a lecture was given by Dr. Dubarry on the work in France, which was enjoyed by all.

Malcolm Love is leaving this community to work in Fenelon Falls. Friends are sorry to see him go.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Love were visiting with Mr. and Mrs. David Love over the weekend.

Mrs. J. Ardill was visiting with her daughter, Mrs. Harry Knights, for a few days last week.

Last Sunday, services were changed from afternoon to morning and evening services.

The Sunday-school is starting at 10.45 a.m. It was an open session and the service was conducted by Mr. Wellington of the seminary, and Misses Blanche and Grace Scott sang a duet and played the guitar and harp.

The evening service started with prayer meeting at 7 o'clock and the evangelistic service at 7.30, which was also in the charge of Mr. Wellington. Mrs. David Love sang a solo, and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Knights sang a duet. Everyone enjoyed both services very much.

Prayer meeting is to be held this week on Tuesday evening at the church.

TELEPHONE TALKS IN THE WATSON FAMILY

One Ring that Led to Another . . .

Jack Roberts and Sally have been "friends" for some time. But Jack took Sally by surprise (she really hadn't expected a ring this spring) and in this case one ring naturally led to another. Sally just has to call Mother who is visiting out-of-town. "We're to be married right away," she says happily.

And Sally will call some of her out-of-town friends as well, who will appreciate having the news "first". Wouldn't you?

Reductions in telephone rates—local and long distance — in 1935, '36 and '37 have effected savings to telephone users in Ontario and Quebec of nearly one million dollars yearly.

HER FINGER JOINTS BEGAN TO SWELL

Perfectly Straight at 63—Thanks To Kruschen

Nearly twenty years ago, this woman was attacked by severe rheumatism. Now 63, she tells how Kruschen restored her to health, and has kept her free from rheumatism all these years:—

"In 1918, an attack of 'flu' left me with severe rheumatism, and I was in bed three months. When I got up I could only hobble around with difficulty and pain. My finger joints were beginning to swell, and were very painful. I was told that nothing could be done for the swelling. A friend recommended me to try Kruschen Salts, which I did with very satisfactory results. Today, at 63, my fingers are perfectly straight, I am free from rheumatism, and can do all my own housework."—(Mrs.) M. W.

Two of the ingredients of Kruschen have the power of dissolving the needle-pointed crystals of uric acid which settle in your joints, causing them to swell, ache and inflame. Other ingredients of Kruschen assist Nature to flush out these dissolved crystals through the natural channels.

A woman who had promised faithfully to abide by the diet and other reducing rules of a specialist waddled into the office of her adviser.

"My good woman!" exclaimed the amazed expert, "you are stouter than ever! Have you been following the treatment I prescribed? Are you quite sure you ate exactly what I ordered?"

"Everything," replied the patient.

"And nothing else?"

"Nothing whatever," she replied, "except, of course, my regular meals."

"TIRED" ALL THE TIME

She felt miserable—draggy—low in vitality—lower in spirits. She hadn't thought of her kidneys, until a friend suggested Dodd's Kidney Pills. At once she took Dodd's. The "washed out" feeling was soon replaced by clear headed energy and restful sleep. Headache, backache, backstrain and other signs of faulty kidneys disappeared. 112

THE OSTREKOFF JEWELS

By E. PHILLIPS OPPENHEIM

A GREAT NOVEL OF LOVE AND ADVENTURE

The police spy shook his head.

"I am very dishonest," he admitted. "I have taken bribes many times, but this time you do not get—what you say—value for your money. All my instructions are to follow Monsieur about until he discovers a place to sleep for the night. Then I will make my report to the police of the department."

"Very simple," Haven agreed wearily. "But what I should like to know is this—having found out, what are they going to do then? Protect me or rob me?"

"Sir," the official remonstrated, "my department does not rob. You are a stranger here with apparently many enemies. It would not be good for us if you got into trouble."

"I see. Just a friendly and paternal interest, eh? Well, I'll save you trouble. I'm going where my taximan takes me. He says he knows a room where I can sleep which is clean and not too expensive."

"He will take you to a brothel," the other confided, "and the proprietors will pay him 50 per cent of what you pay. It is the custom here."

"A brothel," Haven repeated, with a fierce little jump of the heart. "Well, the idea is unpleasant, but I presume one may remain alone. Your amiable department has apparently issued orders that I am not to be entertained at any hotel. I suppose at the brothel they won't demand my passport."

"Monsieur will be too welcome a visitor," the other murmured.

He rose to his feet, and this time Haven made no attempt to detain him. He laid his fingers for a moment, however, upon his coat sleeve.

"Look here," he said, "I can make use of you, after all. You can take a message from me to the chief of your department. I should like you to tell him who I am. My name is Wilfred Haven. I have been third secretary to the American Embassy in St. Petersburg, and, although it's nothing to brag about, my father is one of the richest men in the world and it was he who arranged that last loan for Poland. Let them remember that if they're thinking of going in for a little private free-booting or if they're going to stand in with that dirty Russian crowd who followed me over the frontier.. I'm not of much account in myself, but all the same there'll be hell to pay if anything happens to me."

The little man bowed.

"I shall tell my chief all that you say," he promised. "He will be greatly concerned for your safety."

Haven whispered to the commissionaire. The commissionaire translated to the taxicab driver. The latter shook his head in knowing fashion, waited until his passenger was safely ensconced inside and drove off. To Haven the journey seemed interminable, although, as a matter of fact, it took something less than twenty minutes. At the end of that time his driver turned off the main boulevard and continued for a short distance down a narrow street, pulling up eventually at a large and solid-looking house with a courtyard in front. The place appeared to be in darkness, but the sound of music stole out from behind the drawn curtains; from the narrow fanlight above the door came a sharp line of purple light. The taxicab driver took command of the proceedings. He rang the bell of the porter's lodge and talked for a few moments earnestly to the man who opened the door. The latter came forward to Haven, who was standing on the pavement.

"I speak Russian," he announced. "What do you want?"

"I want a room," Haven confided, "a room to myself for the night. The hotels are all full."

"Are you in trouble with the police?" the man asked suspiciously. "Madam will have nothing to do with you if that is so."

"I am in no trouble with any one," Haven assured him. "I am an American official and I am leaving Warsaw tomorrow."

The man nodded.

"In that case," he replied, "you are perhaps the gentleman who is expected. Enter and make your arrangements with madam."

Haven paid his taxicab driver. The porter picked up his bags and led the way to the house. The door was opened almost immediately by a manservant in livery. The porter whispered something to him, laid the bags upon the carpeted floor and took almost precipitate leave. The servant, motioning Haven to follow, entered a heavily furnished, gloomy apartment on the ground floor. The room was over heated and a samovar was hissing on a side table.

"Madam will see the gentleman," the servant announced in unexpected English.

"Look here, don't go away, for goodness sake, if you can speak a Christian language like that," Haven begged.

The man smiled.

"Madam speaks every language," he replied.

Haven was left to himself for barely five minutes. Then the door opened and a woman made noiseless entrance. Haven rose to his feet and stared at her in surprise which he found hard to conceal. She was tall, slim and pale, with thoughtful eyes and hair brushed back from her forehead in the Italian fashion. She wore a plain black dress which fitted her admirably and was cut in the severest style. She wore no jewelry and made use of no cosmetics. She greeted Haven gravely but pleasantly in English which was almost without accent.

"What can I do for you, Mr. Haven?" she asked.

"Tell me how you knew my name first," he begged.

She smiled.

"You know they call this city the whispering city," she confided. "You want a room, I think, for the night? A companion perhaps?"

"Certainly not," Haven replied. "The police have been interfering in my affairs and they have made it difficult for me to stay at a hotel.

"If you don't mind taking me in until morning, I shall be very grateful."

"You do not care to amuse yourself?" Madam persisted. "I have young lady guests of every nation and very good music. They are dancing now."

"Madam," Haven explained, "I am travelling on a serious errand and I am not looking for distraction. All I ask for is a bed and peace—if such a thing exists at all in Warsaw. I shall expect to pay for my room as though I had accepted your offer of entertainment."

Madam sighed. Her quiet eyes seemed to look him over a little wistfully.

"You are a strange race, you Anglo-Saxons," she said. "The men I know would flirt with life even while they listened for death. You shall have your way, though, but you must pay me ten pounds in English money for your room and your coffee in the morning. I dare not keep you longer than that. We are on the best of terms with the police but I must not offend them."

"As soon after daylight as your man can get me a taxicab," Haven promised, producing his pocketbook, "I shall be ready to depart. Here is the ten pounds."

The woman accepted the note with a little word of thanks.

"I shall put you upon the ground floor," she announced. "You will hear no noise and—it might be better."

"In what way?" he asked curiously.

Madam smiled but made no reply. She led Haven along the passage into a wider hall and pushed open the door. He found himself in a clean and well-furnished bedroom, with a bathroom opening from it. His two bags were upon a luggage stand and the coverlet of the bed was turned back.

"Somehow or other," Haven remarked, "it seems as though I were expected."

Madam smiled once more ever so slightly.

"I trust that you will sleep well, Mr. Haven," she said. "If you change your mind, you will find us on the floor above. There is a dancing room there, a bar and a cardroom."

She took very deliberate and courteous leave of her guest and Haven, drawing up a chair in front of the round table in the center of the room, unrolled his map and recommenced his study of it.

He listened for a few minutes to the distant strains of music and then strolled over to the door. It had a lock but there was no key. He opened and closed it quietly and then returned to his map. His surroundings were peaceful, if not soporific, but a queer fit of restlessness had come over him. He found himself listening for strange sounds. There had been nothing alarming about his reception. There was certainly nothing alarming about his present environment—nothing except the lack of a key to his door. He paced up and down the room. There was no other entrance and the window, probably because it was almost flush with the ground, was quite reasonably supplied with iron bars. Occasionally he heard the tooting of a horn and the clanging of the bell at the porter's lodge.

Now and then, too, he caught the sound of voices, always amused, sometimes a little drunken, but nevertheless joyous. There was nothing in any direction to indicate that the house was used for any purpose other than as a rendezvous for pleasure seekers, yet slowly and inevitably there crept in to his consciousness a conviction that he was in greater danger during these apparently peaceful moments than at any time since he had left Petrograd. He struggled against the feeling, but it obsessed him. With a sense almost of shame, he drew his perfect little automatic pistol from his pocket, loaded it with a full clip and placed it on the table by his side.

The night wore on. Haven felt himself growing sleepy, yet he resisted every inclination to undress and crawl into bed. He sat waiting—for what he had not the faintest idea. By degrees, the intervals when the music died away were longer. The sound of footsteps and voices slackened. Something that was almost silence crept over the place. The heat of the stove began to assert itself and his eyes grew heavy. An automobile drew up outside. There was the sound of the grinding of brakes, the usual toot, the porter's bell, muffled voices outside on the pavement, a woman's laugh in the hall, the clinking of spurs, then again silence. Sleepiness almost overcame him and then found sudden and complete banishment. The door of his room was swiftly opened and as swiftly closed. Anna Kastellane stood there, breathing quickly, her fingers still clenching the knob of the door behind her. Her eyes seemed to sweep around the room in one comprehensive flash. She nodded and regained her breath.

"Thank heaven," she exclaimed, "you haven't been quite such a fool as you tried to appear! I was afraid I should find you tucked up in bed."

He rose to his feet. The automatic to which his hand had leaped was still gripped in his fingers, but with the muzzle pointing to the floor.

"What are you doing here?" he demanded.

"Don't waste time," she advised. "It's now or never for both of us. You can keep your pistol in your hand, if you want to. You may have to use it. Take the smaller of your two bags. You can hold that in your left hand with the satchel. You'll have to leave the other behind. Come here."

He obeyed like a child at school. He stood by her side whilst she opened the door softly and peered up and down the passage. Then she drew back into the room, closing it again.

"To the right," she whispered, "as far as you can go, then turn to the left. The front door is open. Outside the gate—the gate, too, is open—a car is waiting. Get into it, clap your hands and sit still. The man will know where to take you. When you get there—wait. Everything else will happen—or it won't. Shoot any one who interferes with you. You understand?"

"Perfectly," he answered.

She opened the door once more and stood in the passage with outstretched finger. He walked as far as possible to the right, then he turned to the left. He passed out of the front door and hurried down the paved way, through the gate and across the pavement. The door of a big American touring car standing there was also open. He sprang into it and clapped his hands.

To Be Continued

Sandford

Holy Week services were held at Sandford United church from April 11 to 14. Rev. J. Robinson of Leaskdale, Rev. R. V. Wilson of Mount Albert, Rev. E. Bishop of Uxbridge, and Rev. Geo. Murray, the pastor, were special preachers. The theme of these services was "He was wounded for our transgressions." The services were greatly enjoyed. A very interesting Easter service was held on Sunday and an anthem and duet were sung with good voice.

The topic of the sermon was "What Easter means to the world." Reference was made to the inspiring messages of the sunrise services broadcast that morning. Rev. Mr. Murray stated that to millions of people in the world today, Easter is more than a fashion parade.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Cook and baby, of Aurora, spent Sunday with Mrs. Cook's mother, Mrs. Neal.

The baseball club met in the hall on Monday evening, to organize for the coming summer. The officers are: honorary president, Wm. Horner; president, Bert Lockie; secretary; R. Bartlett; treasurer, S. Lunney; manager, Ches. Pickering.

Good Friday service was held at Zephyr United church, when the Young People's choir sang an anthem and trio which were much enjoyed. The sermon was based on the topic "What Christ means to us."

On Easter Sunday the choir rendered three anthems, based on the theme "Now is Christ Risen," which were much appreciated. The text of the sermon was "I know that ye seek Jesus which was crucified." Rev. Geo. Murray stated that the world today is seeking for Jesus, but only as they find the "Crucified Savior who is risen" can they enter into the true Easter spirit. Floral decorations added much to the service, which was attended by a large congregation.

HEAR EASTER MESSAGE

Last Sunday, Eric Pendleton of Toronto gave the address at the regular British Israel meeting, entitled "The Legacy of History." His hearers enjoyed his Easter message to the full, and were pleased that he will be here again a week from Sunday when he will give an illustrated lecture on "Armageddon," in the basement of the Presbyterian church.

He will also give the address at the morning service. Roy Wemp of Toronto will address the meeting next Sunday. It will be daylight saving time.

There is no charge for birth, death or marriage announcements in The Era. Engagement notices cost 50 cents.

"I don't fool with pests"

I wish I didn't have to spend money to keep away blight and insects from my potato crop - but I do. Since I have to buy and apply protective dust, I buy the most effective, and dust thoroughly.

I've found by experience that Copotex gives great satisfaction. It holds the killing power for a long time, saving dusting time. Copotex is the copper-lime dust, with Niagara Calcium Arsenate, that I find entirely reliable.

Thorough dusting is another crop saver. My NIAGARA DRI-FOG DUSTER gets under and over the foliage every time.

Many successful growers in this district rely upon these dusts for full protection.

Dr. and Mrs. W. L. Carruthers and Ann spent the Easter holidays with friends in Hamilton.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Haig are moving in with Mrs. Haig's parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. Watts. Mrs. Watts is slowly improving in health after her serious illness.

Everton Rolling, eldest son of Mr. Ernest Rolling, was taken to the Toronto General Hospital on Friday evening for treatment.

Mr. Dan Lundy, who suffered a stroke a week ago, has not improved very much. He is at his home in town.

Mrs. W. D. Stokes has gone to Picton to visit her daughter, Mrs. Gordon Wagg.

Mrs. Roy Stewart, Donald and Marian, spent the Easter holidays at Picton, at the home of her brother, Gordon Wagg.

Miss Evelyn Slack of Toronto was a weekend visitor at the home of her aunts, the Misses Hayes.

Mr. and Mrs. Lorn Mather of Kapuskasing spent the holidays with Mrs. Mather's mother, Mrs. H. Harrison.

Mrs. J. Cook, Marian and Evelyn, of Woodbridge, and Mr. Bob. Young of West Toronto, were holiday visitors at the home of Mrs. D. Cook.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Ramsden of Dauphin, Man., paid a short visit to old friends in town on Saturday evening, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. S. D. Terry of Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. Kendry of Montreal and Mrs. Russell of Brampton were holiday visitors at the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Arnold.

Mr. Fred Jack of Toronto visited his aunt, Mrs. Silversides, on Good Friday.

Misses Ruth Brooks, Mina Oliver, Edna Griffith, and Olive Spencely, of Toronto, were at their homes in town over the holiday.

Messrs. John Ross of St. Catherines, Frank of Thorton, Harold of Reach, Misses Effie and Marian, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Ross, of Toronto and Mr. and Mrs. Austin Cook, Orillia, spent the weekend with their mother, Mrs. H. Ross.

Mr. and Mrs. Barnes and family, also Mr. J. Crowle, spent Sunday in Midland.

Dr. and Mrs. Stokes and John of Hanover and Miss Etta Stokes, Toronto, were at Mr. W. D. Stokes' over Easter Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Tilley spent the holidays with friends at Belleville.

Mr. J. L. Stiver and a friend, of Toronto, were at Mr. B. Stiver's over Sunday.

Miss Jean Hamilton is spending her holidays with her mother, Mrs. Crowle.

The Easter services in the United church were well attended both morning and evening. Special music was rendered by the choir and in the evening Mrs. Lyons sang a beautiful Easter solo and several young ladies from Hartman gave their splendid pageant, "The Challenge of the Cross."

Mr. and Mrs. Grant Draper, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Richards, of Toronto, and Mrs. Burr, Richmond Hill, were Easter visitors at the Steepers' home.

Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Leach and family and Miss Nora Wilson spent Easter at Mr. Robt. Wilson's.

The April meeting of the Women's Institute was held at the home of the president, Mrs. H. Price. The attendance was rather small, but those who were there listened to a good program.

A paper on gardens and gardening by Mrs. Allan Hopkins was very instructive and several who had attended the international flower show told of the marvellous sights seen there, of flowers never seen before.

Mrs. Stiver gave a humorous reading and Miss M. Dike gave current events, which were most interesting.

The Institute decided to ask for a short course on needlecraft, to be held in the early fall. It being Achievement Day, there were some very fine articles on display, that the members had made during the winter. The Institute had collected five dollars for the Queen Mary cot at Weston Sanitarium.

All those who are interested in the continuation school, Mount Albert, are invited to attend a home and school gathering on Thursday, April 28, at 8 o'clock at the school. Program and lunch will be provided.

The Darktown minstrels will appear at the Young People's meeting of the United church, Mount Albert, on Monday, April 25. This meeting is open to all.

On Tuesday, April 26, there will be a meeting in the U.F.O. hall at 8 p.m. Allan Turning, Christian naturalist, will be there. He is the man who makes the birds, beasts, fish, insects and reptiles preach new, unique and novel gospel messages. The lecture is illustrated with rare and beautiful slides for old and young. It is a delight to parents and a joy to children. Friends will recall having seen his set of slides on birds at Hartman United church recently.

KESWICK

PASTOR TO TALK ON SWEEPSTAKES

The services on Easter Sunday were well attended at the United church. Rev. C. E. Fockler occupied the pulpit. The pulpit and the front of the church were bright with lovely Easter lilies and other spring flowers, and Mr. Fockler's morning message was of "hope and of Thanksgiving to God." "He is risen," meant there was only one sad Easter, that was that first Easter morn, Mr. Fockler said. A special anthem was sung by the choir, and also "When the world forgets," was sung as a solo, very nicely, by Mrs. Ralph Link.

A large number entered into membership with Keswick United church, some of those being: Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth McKinnon, Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell, Mr. Ralph Link and daughter, Margaret, Helen, Muriel and Marion Rye, Rheba, and Eula and Gerald Pollock, Evelyn Cowieson, Violet and Bruce Oldham, Marion Maines, Phyllis and Norman Folkard, Patti and Lillian Connell, and Shirley Pollock. Miss M. Fockler was organist for both services.

At the evening service, lantern slides with illustrated Easter hymns and Bible stories were shown.

Service was held on Good Friday evening in the United church. Hymns suitable for the day were sung, and Rev. Mr. Fockler gave a most appropriate address, after which he conducted a baptismal service. Those baptized were: Margaret, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Link, Shirley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carson Pollock, Evelyn, daughter of Mr. Angus Cowieson, Rheba and Eula, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Pollock, Patti and Lillian, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. M. Connell, and Helen, Muriel and Marion Rye, Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Rye's daughters.

The Mission Band, of which Mrs. Retter and Mrs. A. Rye have charge, will meet at 4 o'clock on Friday, and at 8 p. m. the Y. P. U. will hold its regular meeting.

Rev. C. E. Fockler will take for his subject for Sunday evening's address, "some phases of the subject of sweepstakes."

The Easter W. M. S. meeting was held on Thursday in the Sunday-school of the United church. The very interesting program, which had been prepared by the second vice-president, Mrs. O. M. King, was in the charge of the president, Mrs. Wm. Vail, Mrs. King being prevented from being present owing to illness.

Mrs. Perry Winch offered the prayer of Easter thanks giving. Mrs. Oldham read the scripture passages, and Mrs. Jud Cole read and commented beautifully upon the devotional leaflet. The roll call was responded to by a verse on Easter thoughts.

Mrs. Ernest Morton, treasurer, presented her report for the month and Miss Joy Marritt, strangers' secretary also had a short report. In Mrs. Fockler's absence, also due to illness, Miss Margaret Fockler very ably reviewed a chapter of the study book. Mrs. Vail gave a general report from the spring rally held in Richmond Hill on March 30, and splendid short talks from the same meeting were given on temperance and associate Helpers' work, by Mrs. Pedlar and Mrs. Cole, respectively. Mrs. Peel accepted the offering, and Misses Fockler and Marritt were pianists for the afternoon. Sincere sympathy was extended from the meeting, to the family and relatives of the late Mrs. Angus Cowieson.

The May meeting of the W. M. S. will be held at Mrs. Jud Cole's home on Thursday, May 12. Mrs. Perry Winch will be in charge.

The annual quilting party of the W. M. S. will be held on Tuesday, April 26, in the Sunday-school room of the United church. Commencing in the morning, the ladies are asked to bring a pot luck lunch. There will not be any charge and all are invited to come and also if possible to bring any material that can be used for making garments, (especially for boys) for the bale. This is under the direction of Mrs. McGonerty.

On Thursday, April 21, the ladies are anticipating another lovely afternoon at Mrs. Purdy's home, when the fancy work shower will be held for the bazaar. Mrs. Grant and Mrs. Perry Winch are the conveners.

Mrs. Purvis of Baltimore, accompanied by Mrs. Catherine Walker and daughter, Margaret Walker, of Toronto, visited this week at the home of the former's niece, Mrs. Wm. Vail.

Elmhurst W.I. meet at the home of Mrs. Jud Cole on Wednesday, April 27, at Roche's Point. The roll call will be answered by hints on the prevention of moths.

Because some of those listed on the program and refreshment committee will not be present, there will be a change made, but there will be a good time as usual.

The program lists as the refreshment committee: Mrs. John King, Mrs. Harry Leppard, Mrs. Carl Anderson, Mrs. J. Retter, Mrs. English, and Mrs. Francis Morton.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Foster moved to Bellhaven last Tuesday. The community is sorry to lose them, as they were good citizens. Mrs. Foster was a worker in the Elmhurst Institute and was presented with a pin by the Institute.

HOPE

GIFTED SINGERS WILL ENTERTAIN

The official board of Hope United church will present the Kenwood Troubadours of Toronto, in Sharon hall on Tuesday evening, April 26. It is a mixed quartet, consisting of Olive Collins, soprano, Gladys George, contralto, Roy Staples, tenor, Howard Clark, bass, accompanied by Jean King Watson, at the piano. It is under the direction of Wm. T. Collins.

Each member of the quartet is an accomplished soloist, and their voices blend beautifully. They have been enthusiastically received wherever they have appeared before Toronto audiences.

Also on the program will be Lionel W. Harron, cartoonist, who, with his ready wit and clever cartoons, holds the rapt attention of his audiences throughout his performances.

Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Stickwood, Elton and Ronald, visited at the Joshua Stickwood home, Bogarttown, on Sunday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Mount spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Norman Fry, Newmarket.

Among the guests at Mr. and Mrs. W. Pegg's on Easter Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Mount, of Newmarket, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Pegg, and Jack Pegg of Beeton, and Clifford Pegg of Ravenshoe.

Mr. and Mrs. John Meek, Toronto, visited Mr. and Mrs. S. Boyd over the weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. John Meek, Mr. and Mrs. S. Boyd, and Mrs. John Stickwood, Sr., motored to Orillia on Sunday, visiting the Charles Boyd family.

Mrs. Henderson of Toronto spent Sunday with Mrs. M. Hall.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stickwood and family visited Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Greenwood of Zephyr, on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Elias Gibson and Vernon, and Mrs. Geo. Micks visited Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Weddell on Sunday.

Mrs. Wm. Church of Richmond Hill visited her daughter, Mrs. Glen Micks, on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Melville Dreury of Beaverton, and Mr. and Mrs John Kellington of Ravenshoe, spent Easter Monday with Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Micks.

Mr. and Mrs. Glen Micks, and Mr. Wm. Church motored to Gravenhurst on Saturday, spending Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Norman Rouney.

It is hoped there will be a good attendance at the Sunday service on April 24, as Rev. Ernest Model of Downsview will be the speaker. Church service will be at the usual hour, 3 p.m.

Among the Sunday guests at the Dike home were, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bird, Mr. and Mrs. Brookes, and Miss Bustard, all of Toronto.

Mrs. Lorne Ganton spent Saturday in Toronto.

Miss Doris Breen, of Toronto, spent the weekend at her home here.

VANDORF

FORMER VANDORF RESIDENT PASSES

The Vandorf community was saddened by the death of Mrs. George Petch on April 11. She was a native of Whitchurch, and lived at Vandorf until the death of her husband in 1925. A sister, Mrs. Jas. McMullen, died about a week previously.

Mrs. Petch was born on Jan. 9, 1869. Her maiden name was Emma Young, the daughter of the late Joseph Young. While her husband lived, she took a keen interest in community acivities at Vandorf, and was active in church and Institute work.

She is survived by her son, John Petch, of Vandorf, a daughter, Mrs. Russell Snider of Nobleton, a sister, Mrs. Chas. Williamson of Aurora, a brother, John Young of Toronto and two grandchildren.

Following the funeral last Thursday at the home of her daughter, interment was made in Aurora cemetery.

Miss Flora McDonald of Toronto spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. W. A. McDonald.

Miss Ruth Willis of Toronto visited her parents for the weekend.

Mrs. Henderson, Mrs. Stokoe, Miss Ruth Stokoe, Miss Dorothy Jackson, of Toronto, and Miss Marilyn King of Scotland, Ont., are spending the Easter holidays with Mrs. Switzer.
